Republicans Clash About Leadership For Party in Future

Washington, Jan. 16—Rumblings among Republican forces forecast a stirring contest soon between the old guard and followers of President Hoover for control of the party organization.

Already a move has been started to resist any effort by Mr. Hoover's friends to have him retain the titular chieftainship of the party after he retires from the presidency.

Indications are that the struggle, now being waged behind the scenes, will break into the open after March 4. Mr. Hoover's friends, however, seem confident that he will have little difficulty in holding the reins.

That Mr. Hoover desires to continue as the dominating factor in the organization with a view either of seeking the presidential nomination in 1936, or dictating the nominee, is the belief generally held by Republicans on Capitol Hill.

But members of the old guard, who considered themselves slighted during the Hoover administration, are talking about having the present party set up "cleaned out from top to bottom" and a new organization created, with a conservative basis but a slant satisfactory to the liberal element of the party.

They want to take over party control early in the spring to prepare for the congressional campaign in 1934, with the hope of recapturing the house and electing a speaker, and thus to pave the way, by a legislative record route, to seize the administration in 1936.

While much preliminary maneuvering is going on, the battle lines are not yet definitely drawn. They are, however, to center about the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, now held by Everett Sanders, secretary to the late Calvin Coolidge, when he was President.

Talk among the Republicans is that Sanders desires to relinquish the post within a few months at the latest, although he has said he has no present intention of resigning. Sanders was selected to head the committee last June in Chicago following the Republican national convention when it appeared doubtful that supporters of Mr. Coolidge would fall in line behind Hoover's candidacy.

The recent death of Mr. Coolidge set the anti-Hooverites back in their plans. Although Mr. Coolidge had plainly indicated he would not reenter politics, they felt that he was a potential candidate to thwart possible further political ambitions of Mr. Hoover.

MAN OVERCOME BY DRINKING DENATURED ALCOHOL

This afternoon the local police learned that the name of the man who was overcome by drinking denatured alcohol was William Shevy of Troy, N. Y. He was said to be slowly recovering from the attack at the Kingston Hospital where he was taken in an unconscious condition from the county jail early this morning. He was picked up Sunday night at the Broadway crossing after he fell while attempting to board a moving freight train.

ANOTHER COUNTERFEIT $10 BILL PASSED HERE SATURDAY

The police department has in its possession another counterfeit $10 that was passed on Saturday in one of the local stores. The counterfeit is one of the best so far seen. It carries the series number B213719-30A of 1928 B, with a picture of Hamilton. One end of the bill has a small white margin which is not seen on bills that are not counterfeit, and the green background is lighter than on good bills.

Held For Hearing.

Charles Chase, 21, and William Short, Jr., 29, both of Oliverea, were committed to the Ulster county jail Sunday to await a hearing later before Justice Theron E. Townsend. Chase is charged with public intoxication and Short with driving a car while intoxicated.

Negroes Were Discharged.

Gus Gordon and Bessie Brodhead, two negroes of Sycamore street, who were held on a charge of assault, were discharged after a hearing in police court today. They were charged with cutting a man named Albright with a knife in the hand.

Approve Report On Simpson Estate

Supreme Court Judge John T. Loughran at a special term of court approved and confirmed the report of John F. Wadlin, Martin Johnson and Silas Auchmoedy, commissioners of appraisal appointed by the court to hear and determine the claim of James A. Simpson and Clara Simpson, as executors of the estate of J. H. Simpson, and fix the value of parcels of land in the town of Shandaken taken for Ulster & Delaware, Part 2, County Highway No. 117. The commissioners of appraisal awarded claimant the sum of $6,300. Charles W. Walton appeared for claimants and Robert G. Groves appeared for the county. The court allowed $315 for counsel fees and $84 for expenses.

Mrs. Sayre, Daughter Of Wilson, Dead

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 16. (AP).—Mrs. Jessie Wilson Sayre, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson and lifelong worker in social service and the cause of world peace, died late last night. She was 45.

Mrs. Sayre, wife of Professor Francis B. Sayre, newly appointed state commissioner of correction and a member of the Harvard Law School faculty, succumbed to the effects of a gall bladder operation performed Saturday morning in the Cambridge Hospital.

Of late years Mrs. Sayre, who was married in the White House in 1913 during her father's first term as President, had been active in Democratic national and state politics. She campaigned for Alfred E. Smith in Massachusetts in 1928, and was herself boomed for United States Senator in 1930 until she withdrew because of her devotion to her husband and children. She was vice-chairman of the Democratic state committee during the recent campaign.

A personal friend as well as ardent supporter of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, she and her husband were overnight guests of the President-elect on several occasions, and it was she who filed the state's electoral vote for Roosevelt and Garner.

The funeral will be held in Christ Church here on Wednesday, and interment will be at Bethlehem, Pa., Thursday.

Clearwater Against Bicentennial Plan

Judge Clearwater thinks the incorporation of the 706,000 communities that united in the celebration of the birth of Washington entirely aside from financial considerations is undesirable as appears from the following letter written by the Judge to the Director General of the National Celebration Commission:

My dear Mr. Director:

I have given to your extremely persuasive letter the most careful consideration.

Although I concur in much that you say, and deeply am gratified that you accord to my beloved Kingston so high a place among the 706,000 communities that celebrated the 200th anniversary of the birth of Washington, my feeling is that the work of your commission, thanks to your ability and energy, resulted in such a stupendous success as largely was that of the 706,000 subsidiary committees, it will be wiser for all of us to retire upon our laboriously and expensively earned laurels than to attempt to create the perpetuity of an organization so largely dependent upon individual genius, energy and idealistic conception.

Always sincerely yours,

A. T. CLEARWATER.

13th Birthday of Prohibition

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Prohibition is thirteen years old today.

In Congress, in the home, in clubs and in the factory, the question still ranks as a leading national issue—stoutly condemned and stoutly defended.

As the wets, saying they are motivated by the events of the November elections, organize to attempt to abolish prohibition, the drys, asserting the elections were not indicative of the will of the people, organize equally as determinedly to retain it.

The thirteenth anniversary found one committee in Congress meeting to act on a bill legalizing 3.05 beer and wine. Democrats said it would speedily be approved by that committee and by the Senate, drys planned no drive against it, being confident, they said, that President Hoover will veto such a measure.

Senator Sheppard, Texas Democrat, who was a co-author of the Eighteenth Amendment, went into the Senate to make, if the opportunity presented itself, his customary annual address on prohibition.

Insular House Will Not Accept Measure

Manila, P. I., Jan. 16 (AP).—Members of the insular House decided in caucus today they would not accept the Philippine independence bill even if it passed over President's veto by the United States Senate. The insular Senate is expected to take similar action.

A cable sent to the independence mission in Washington, D. C., said the representatives agreed by practically unanimous vote the Hawes-Cutting bill as repassed by Congress will not be accepted by the present membership of the House even after the return of the mission.

"The membership of the mission is informed if no other legislation can be secured, the present law should continue until receiving from the Democratic administration legislation giving immediate independence in the sense it should not be postponed except for the time necessary to effect a transfer of sovereignty."

Connelly Selected As Local Chairman To Head Thrift Week

Arthur C. Connelly, secretary of the Kingston Co-Operative Savings and Loan Association, received official notice from the National Thrift Committee, of which Adolph Lewisohn, the well-known philanthropist is chairman, in New York, today, of his appointment as chairman for the Kingston district for National Thrift Week, January 17 to 23 inclusive. "I have been asked by Mr. Lewisohn's committee to assist in the general observance of National Thrift Week here," Mr. Connelly stated. "The committee's desire is that all business and civic organizations cooperate in bringing home the message of thrift, particularly as it applies to the youth of our city, so that the oncoming generation will be happily prepared for the responsibilities of business, civic and domestic life.

"Thrift Week has been successfully observed nationally for the past 15 years. The opening day is always on the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, America's apostle of thrift, whose teachings are as applicable to all of us today as they were to the people of his time. No time in many years has called for more careful planning in the use of personal income than the present.

"Special emphasis is being given to the committee's financial creed by assigning a different phase of it to each of the seven days, as follows:

Tuesday, January 17—Diligence. This virtue is closely related to the first point in the ten point financial creed, namely work and earn. It is basic to all of the other points in the creed.

Wednesday—Prudence. To symbolize the emphasis which Thrift Week has always placed upon the desirability of carefully plannnig one's spending by means of a systematic budget and record of expenditures.

Thursday—Foresight. To many people the word thrift denotes saving or accumulating a surplus. The utilization of Savings and Loan Associations, Savings Banks, Life Insurance and other depositories for one's surplus are included in this day's emphasis.

Friday—Comfort. This reward of good planning is especially visualized as being related to owning a suitable and satisfactory home.

Saturday—Responsibility. Alongside of owning one's home, is the necessity of safeguarding one's own future and the welfare of one's family. This implies giving attention to proper investment of surplus, to the protection of life insurance, and to the making of a will.

Sunday—Sympathy. "No man liveth unto himself." The present economic emergency emphasizes intensely the practice of one of the slogans of Thrift Week, "Share with others."

Monday—Duty. Pay your bills promptly.

EXPECT TO PASS BILL ANTICIPATING REPEAL

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP).—There were strong indications today as the legislature returned from its weekend recess that New York state within a few hours will take its place as the first state to pass legislation anticipating legalized beer and repeal of the 18th Amendment.

With leaders of both parties anxious, by agreement with Governor Lehman, to see a state commission created to inquire into possible methods of beer licensing and liquor control, the rank and file of legislators believed that the bills creating the commission would be put to a vote and passed at tonight's session.

Symphony Concert Tickets.

There has been one change of place where tickets for the coming Kingston Symphony Orchestra to be given Monday night, January 23, may be bought. As a result this is the complete list: E. Winter's Sons' Music Store on Wall street, O'Reilly's News Store on John street, O'Reilly's News Store on Broadway and the Connelly Drug Store on lower Broadway. Unfortunately there were purchasers for tickets at the uptown stores on Saturday morning before the tickets were delivered. They are now ready for sale. There will be no reserved seats.

(AP).—Her skull fractured when a 250-pound steam radiator fell from the back door-steps upon her as she played in the yard with her brother, Margaret Westervelt, 4, died last night in a hospital, a few hours after the accident. General W. D. McCaw Will Present Medal

General Walter D. McCaw has accepted the invitation of the Ulster County American Legion to present the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action recently awarded Sergeant Daniel Rooney of West Hurley. The presentation ceremony will take place at the American Legion County Rally to be held in New Paltz next Wednesday evening.

Prior to his retirement from the army in 1927, General McCaw was in point of service, the senior officer in the American army. During his long and picturesque career he participated in Indian campaigns; was cited for gallantry in action at the battle of San Juan Hill, Cuba; served in the Philippine Insurrection; was Chief Surgeon of the Philippines; was Chief Surgeon of the Mexican border and was Chief Surgeon of the A.E.F.

Among his many American decorations, General McCaw has the D.S.M. and the same Silver Star Medal he is to bestow on Sergeant Rooney. He is a Commander of the Legion of Honor (French); is a Companion of the Bath (British) and is an officer of the Order of Saints Maurice and Lazarus (Italian). The general has been honored by numerous, patriotic, scientific and medical societies.

Since his retirement from the army, General McCaw has resided with his niece, Miss Moncour, in Woodstock.

Commission to Study Situation

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—No technocrat was named to the commission of seventeen which Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler has announced will investigate the economic crisis and suggest corrective action.

The omission of Howard Scott, Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch and other members of the technocracy group was widely noted today. Technocracy's headquarters is at Columbia University, of which Dr. Butler is president.

The commission of seventeen, whose formation was announced last night, will consider specifically such subjects as these:

The part played by the price system in the direction of production, the fluctuating relationships of income, investment and consumption within the price system; price controls to maintain stability of internal prices and of international exchange parities in periods of industrial expansion and reaction; the adequacy of present monetary systems under modern industrial conditions; the economic consequences of improvements in productive technique; and the formulation of consequent policies.

The commission includes seven members from Columbia, four from other universities and six men active in public affairs.

Man Stupefied by Denatured Alcohol

Shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night a stranger attempted to board a moving freight train on the Broadway crossing and fell to the ground. The police were called and removed him to police headquarters where it was found he was stupefied from drinking from a bottle containing denatured alcohol. He was removed to the Kingston Hospital and later, after he had apparently recovered, to the county jail to be held for arraignment in police court today.

Early this morning the jail authorities called up police headquarters and said that the stranger was unconscious, and he was removed to the hospital again for treatment. He was in such condition that it required two policemen to hold him in bed while treatment was administered.

His condition was such that it was impossible for the authorities to learn his name and address.

Alleged Slayer Found Ill in Bed

London, Jan. 16 (AP).—The case of Samuel Furnace, accused torch slayer, took another dramatic turn today when the prisoner, who spent the night in a cell in a Kentish-town (north London quarter) police station, was found ill in his cell.

He was hurried to a hospital in what was declared a serious condition. He was reported suffering internally with symptoms apparently suggesting some form of poisoning.

The 39 year old builder, who hid out in a south end boarding house, reading detective stories while Scotland Yard searched for him, was accused by police of murdering his friend, Walter Spatchett.

The patient's condition improved slightly during the morning but early this afternoon it became serious again and a chaplain was summoned. The police also tried to get in touch with the man's wife.

Papal Bull Decrees Holy Year of Prayer Starting On April 2

Vatican City, Jan. 16 (AP).—a papal bull today set aside the 12 months beginning April 2 as a Holy Year of prayer, penance and pilgrimage to Rome and Palestine. Pope Pius XI said it should lead to "social, political and international peace."

An "extraordinary holy year" and "a general and highest jubilee" was to mark what the pontiff believed to be the 19th centenary of the "passion of Jesus Christ, his crucifixion and death for the salvation of men."

The document was read yesterday in St. Peter's, and readings were set later in St. John Lateran, mother church of Rome; Mary Major and St. Paul's outside the walls. The dean of protonotaries read it to the congregation in St. Peter's.

The Pope's recent protests against church restrictions in Spain, Mexico, and Russia were recalled in this passage: "Oh, may the most merciful Lord bring about that the holy year which we shall shortly inaugurate will bring peace to souls, to the church that liberty everywhere due her * * *."

He called upon the world to turn its mind "from earthly and decaying things" * * * He urged prayer and penance, not only for those of the church, but for "all mankind led astray by so many discords and hostility, laboring under so many miseries and fearful of so many dangers."

The Pope asserted that "the precise year" of the death and crucifixion of Jesus Christ "has not been historically ascertained, nevertheless the fact in itself * * * is of such gravity and importance that it would be improper to let them pass in silence."

"To all the faithful of both sexes who during the holy year, having confessed and communicated, either on the day or in different days and whatsoever order, visit piously three times the Basilicas of St. John Lateran, St. Peter in Vatican, St. Paul on Via Ostiense and St. Mary Major on the Esquiline Hill, and pray according to our intention, we concede and impart mercifully in the Lord a plenary indulgence for all the punishment they must suffer for their sins, of which these faithful shall have first obtained the remission and pardon."

POPE PROTESTS ORTHODOX BAPTISM OF PRINCESS.

Vatican City, Jan. 16 (AP).—Pope Pius is preparing a sharp protest to King Boris of Bulgaria as a result of the baptism of the new-born Princess Marie Louise in the rites of the Orthodox Church. It was denied, however, that the Papal Nuncio at Sofia will be recalled.

Prelates said the Orthodox baptism was contrary to agreement, both written and oral, between the Pontiff and the King by which the latter guaranteed a Roman Catholic baptism.

It was recalled that the Pope presented a similar protest against an Orthodox marriage ceremony for Boris and Queen Joanna at Sofia, and that a Catholic ceremony was subsequestly performed at Assisi.

"Youthful Cabinet" Urged on Roosevelt

Hyde Park, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP).—President-elect Roosevelt is seriously considering the persistent advice of friends to appoint a youthful cabinet.

The idea was advanced first by the elder statesman, Col. E. M. House, intimate of Woodrow Wilson. His point of steering clear of "us old dodo birds" has been impressed frequently since by other visitors.

Of course, Mr. Roosevelt feels free to pick his own cabinet. None other than William G. McAdoo, Senator-elect from California whose announcement at the Chicago convention cleared the way for Roosevelt's nomination, is backing up the claim for a free hand in cabinet selection. He was an overnight guest here.

The President-elect, nevertheless, is resting strongly on the wisdom of some of the party men of tested knowledge such as Senators Glass of Virginia, and Walsh of Montana. He would welcome their entrance into the cabinet, it is understood.

The same process which is turning him to younger America is believed to have eliminated such veterans as Owen D. Young of New York, and Newton D. Baker of Ohio, the war-time secretary of war.

The "youthful cabinet" suggestion again leaves the field open for those upon whom Mr. Roosevelt will rely as his official family in the days to come. No announcements are expected before two weeks.

Boys' Program At Horticultural Show

The boys' speaking, judging and identification contests to be held in connection with the horticultural show here next week, are new features of the show. They were not included in the program while the event was staged in Poughkeepsie. Separate contests will be held for 4-H Club members, students of agriculture in high schools and junior horticulturists.

The various groups have been very busy in all Hudson valley counties preparing for these events. The individual counties will have their own elimination contests. The Ulster county elimination contest will be held in Highland on Saturday, January 21. The inter-county contest will be held on Thursday, January 26, during the horticultural meet-meeting. The three winners of the speaking contest will deliver their talks at the banquet in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Suitable awards will be made for the winners in all three groups.

The identification contests will consist of the competitive identification of numerous fruit insect and disease injuries. This contest is not only educational but gives the boys some excellent training in competitive judging and give them an opportunity to meet boys from other counties.

"Sara Crewe" Profits For Volunteer Aid

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the Mothers' Association of St. Ursula on Friday morning, January 13, Mrs. Charles de la Vergne was authorized to convey to Mrs. Frederick Snyder, chairman of the Volunteer Relief Aid Committee, an offer from the association to turn over to the Relief Committee the entire net proceeds from the performance of "Sara Crewe," to be given at the Broadway Theatre on Friday afternoon, January 20, at 4 o'clock. This offer, which has been accepted, was made in view of the threatened discontinuance of the Volunteer Relief Aid work through lack of funds. It is hoped that sufficient money may be obtained from the play to pay at least the outstanding debts of the Volunteer Relief Aid.

Members of the Volunteer Relief Aid are cooperating with the members of the Mothers' Association of St. Ursula in the disposition of tickets, which are also on sale at O'Reilly's stationery stores.

Gov. Lehman Will Hear Republicans

State Capitol, Albany, N. Y., Jan. 16 (AP).—Governor Lehman agreed today to receive representatives of the New York Republican State Committee Friday afternoon to hear their views on alleged frauds in connection with the conduct of the last election in New York city.

Replying to a request of W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman, for such a conference, Governor Lehman said today he would be "very glad" to receive as many members of the Republican organization as Mr. Macy decided to bring to Albany with him.

Last week Governor Lehman directed District Attorney Crain of New York and Attorney General Bennett to conduct an investigation of the alleged election frauds, after Louis Waldman, unsuccessful Socialist candidate for Governor last year, requested that such an investigation be made.

Accuse United States Aided Chinese Army; Italian Soldier Shot

The United States was accused in Tokyo newspapers of furnishing money, arms and ammunition to China for use against Japanese forces. Ambassador Joseph C. Grew emphatically denied all charges. An official Japanese war office statement said Americans were furnishing the Chinese airplanes and motor cars, described as "arms."

An Italian soldier was shot and killed by Chinese in the Shanhaikwan battle zone. Italian authorities said he had been guaranteed safe passage and Rome has expected to demand satisfaction from the Chinese nationalist government.

Japanese airplanes bombed and heavily damaged a Chinese headquarters in Kailu, Jehol, and a Chinese counter attack on Tungliao was expected.

Japanese and Chinese military concentrations continued throughout eastern Jehol as the former prepared for their campaign to annex that province to Manchukuo.

Japanese leaders feared they acted too late in attempting to isolate China proper from Jehol by closing passes in the great wall of China.

HOERCHER CONDUCTS FIRST AID MEETINGS

Emergency First Aid demonstrations were given last week by Frank Hoercher, field representative of the American Red Cross, First Aid and Life Saving Division, at six meetings in Ulster county. The meetings were sponsored by the 4-H Clubs and more than 630 members and their friends attended the meetings.

Mr. Hoercher gave the beginning instruction in the phases of first aid that may be carried out without equipment. He explained that if there was a demand for it a Red Cross doctor would give classes training those interested as instructors in First Aid. These classes would be arranged some time in April, and would be held evenings at Kingston or New Paltz. Anyone interested in this instruction should communicate with Carl Foster, Y. M. C. A., Kingston, or Barnard Joy, County 4-H Club Agent, 74 John street, Kingston.

The meetings held last week were at Wallkill, Lake Katrine, Kerhonkson, Rifton, Mt. Tremper, and Highland. Audiences at Lake Katrine and Rifton both exceeded 150.

CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO BRIBE A POLICEMAN

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—John T. Pratt, Jr., wealthy son of Representative Ruth Pratt, has been summoned to appear before a magistrate today to answer a charge of attempting to bribe a motorcycle policeman.

The charge, as given in a police document filed in trial court, is that Pratt offered $10 to a policeman who stopped Pratt's automobile to accuse him of speeding.

Pratt's father was the late John Teele Pratt, financier who left an estate estimated at $10,000,000.

THEIR IDEA OF FUN WAS TO BREAK ELECTRIC GLOBES

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation on Saturday asked the police to aid in the search for a maroon colored automobile. It was said that the riders in the car were amusing themselves in shooting at electric light bulbs along the road. They had driven out the Boulevard to Rosendale thence to High Falls and on to Stone Ridge. All in all they had shot and broken 60 bulbs along the road.

Junior League Cooking School

The second in the series of cooking and nutrition classes will be held at the Junior League Health Station, 36 Meadow street, Tuesday afternoon, January 17, at 2 o'clock.

The importance of obtaining nourishing food at the lowest possible cost cannot be overstressed at this time, the League contends, and it is its purpose to bring this to the attention of mothers whose children have been attending the well baby clinic.

Mrs. Barnard Joy will be in personal charge of these classes which will be held weekly and at which time instructions in balanced diet will be given as well as information regarding the best and most reasonable food values to be obtained.

The food recommended will be actually cooked to demonstrate the best methods of retaining its nourishing qualities.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

'Tis the Man Who Pays

Auckland, New Zealand—These are boom days in the bride market among Solomon Island cannibals. The natives are agog over news that Ben-Ta-Ona of Sinerango has paid a record price of 120 "monies" (about $1,560) for a wife. He bought the dusky maid on the installment plan and will be the rest of his life paying for her.

"Ya Shoulda"

Duluth, Minn.—The newest bridge club in Duluth is called the "Shoulda Club."

"Every game ends with everyone leaning over the table and saying to her partner: 'You should'a done this and you should'a done that," said a member.

Professional women and school teachers comprise the membership.

Quiet?. Heh-Heh!

Chicago—"All," reported Patrolman Milford Nygren to a desk sergeant, "is quiet."

"You may think so," replied the sergeant, "but you are mistaken. You have just become the father of twins. They're over at the Edgewater Hospital and they're boys."

Sore Head Your Ticket

Chicago—The price of admission to one of Chicago's best shows is to get yourself knocked on the head, robbed or otherwise mistreated.

Otherwise you can't come to Chicago's police showup at which criminals are paraded before their victims for identification.

For persons not victims of crime have been attending just for entertainment; but the police announced that from now on only victims of crime would be admitted.

They said the entertainment idea was spoiling the show for the purposes for which it was intended.

No, You Try It

London—Several snakes at the London Zoo are regarding spectators with a glassy stare. They lost their eyes in accidents of various kinds—and the keepers fitted them with glass ones. The only trouble is that every time the snakes shed their skins, the eyes pop out and have to be fitted back in again. Try that on a boa constrictor!

Now He's Comfy

Sharon, Pa.—A burglar, who had cold hands as well as "light fingers," and a taste for "ham and chili," is vexing Sharon police.

Entering the home of Leo Helgee, he stole a pair of gloves from an overcoat, leaving the garment; annexed a pair of trousers, leaving the coat and vest, and took a necktie and two pairs of sox.

Departing via a kitchen window, the visitor picked up half a ham and two bottles of Chili sauce.

Three In One

Oklahoma City—What's in a title? George Berry has been chosen third vice president, fourth vice president, and fifth vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

All Mixed Up

Chicago—The color scheme of Fred Docken's shoes was a thing that puzzled two policemen.

One was black and the other was tan.

So they followed him. His footsteps led to an alleged speakeasy, the proprietor of which was arrested. Then Bocken explained:

His wife, he said, wouldn't let him go out for a drink. So he sneaked out without turning on the lights and got his shoes all mixed up.

Getting Monotonous

Kansas City, Kas.—Some sort of a hoodoo must be attched to a filling station here. It was held up Sunday for the 13th time in six months.

It will pay you to read this one

THE other day a friend gave my wife a recipe for a new Frozen Orange Pudding. We had it last night for dessert.

"This is something new," I said. "Where did you get it?"

"Mae gave me the recipe yesterday. She clipped it from an advertisement."

My wife didn't read that advertisement. If her friend hadn't read it what a treat we would have missed.

Do you read the advertisements? It will pay you many times over to do so. From them you may learn about all sorts of new things. New foods, new ways to use them, new recipes that will add variety to the daily menu.

Right in the advertisements in this paper there are countless things to interest you, to save you money, to bring you the most value for what you spend. And now as a reward for reading this advertisement here is the recipe that inspired it.

Recipe for Frozen Orange Pudding

Ingredients. 2 egg yolks (beaten); 1 cup orange juice; 1 cup cream (light cream or top milk will do); 4 teaspoonfuls flour; ⅛ teaspoonful salt; 1-3 cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful grated orange rind.

Blend thoroughly egg yolks, sugar, flour, salt and add orange juice and cream. Put in double boiler until thick. Add orange rind, cool and pour into freezing tray of refrigerator—or three or four hours on ice. When ready to serve, top each dish with meringue made by beating two egg white stiff and adding ¼ cup sugar. Garnish with orange segments.

It pays to read all the advertisements in this paper.

Schubert Choral Club Meeting

The Schubert Choral Club were very fortunate on Friday evening, in having an address given them by Robert Williams, organist and choir master at St. John's Church on the subject, "Some Believe It or Nots in Musical History."

Mr. Williams gave as one of his "Believe It or Nots," the story of the amazing musical memory of Mozart at the age of twelve. He also spoke of the wonderful memory of Toscannini. Mr. Williams spoke of the great works of Handel and told the story connected with his composing the "Messiah" and having it ready for production in twenty-eight days. He also gave a very amusing episode in the life of Handel showing his extreme forgetfulness. Another very interesting "Believe It or Not" was a comparison of the price paid Schubert for his first beautiful song which sold for the equivalent of two dollars and seventy-five cents and the price of the popular songs of modern times which bring thousands of dollars.

The club is very grateful to Mr. Williams for this most interesting and entertaining talk.

Farm Bureau Chick Management Drive

The "Chick Management Campaign" is one of the most important features of the 1933 program arranged by the Farm Bureau poultry committee. Enrollment in this campaign is opened to all poultrymen in Ulster county. Any poultryman may enroll by applying at the Farm Bureau office, 74 John street, Kingston.

Many poultrykeepers lose as high as 50 per cent of the chicks they place in the brooder house each year. The average loss on 108 farms in this state in 1931 was 25.1 per cent, according to records taken by the Farm Management Department of the New York State College of Agriculture. In 1930 the average was 28 per cent on 123 farms. Such heavy losses not only increase the cost of raising pullets for replacing the flocks, but result in heavier losses in the laying flock later. The weakened pullets may be diseased, or lack the necessary vigor to produce well.

Information about the control of various poultry diseases is very conflicting and confusing. Many quack remedies and worthless methods of control are being advocated, and conflicting suggestions on all kinds of practices are being made. Many poultrykeepers are uncertain as to the methods they should follow.

The object of the "Chick Management Campaign" as arranged by the poultry committee is to bring the latest scientific information available in regard to the control of the various poultry diseases. In a large measure it is a program of prevention rather than one of treatment.

In general the campaign consists of a series of 15 weekly lessons starting during February. These will be sent to all those who enroll in the campaign free of charge. Those who enroll should follow the information as closely as possible. Each month they will be expected to make a report in regard to the actual losses of chicks from all causes. At the end of the season they will be expected to make a more complete report as to results.

If there is sufficient interest among the poultrymen, a series of brooder house meetings will be arranged during March or April, with a speaker from the College to discuss chick rearing. Those who enroll will also be given preference in the matter of personal visits if they have any individual difficulties.

As Ulster county has more commercial poultry farms than any other county in the State, a large enrollment is expected. A letter enclosing an enrollment card has been mailed to over 500 Ulster county poultrymen. All those interested in securing the series of lessons are asked to return the card promptly.

Masquerade Dance.

Four prizes will be awarded at the masquerade dance to be given Wednesday night by the Kingston Community Band. The affair will be held in the Modern Dance Hall, on Grand street and music for dancing will be furnished by Zucca's orchestra.

No. 2 P.-T. A. Card Party.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Public School No. 2 will hold a card party in Knights of Columbus Hall, Broadway and Andrew street, Wednesday evening, January 25, starting at 8:30. Refreshments will be served.

To Discuss Cattle Disease Control

Dr. R. R. Birch of the New York State Veterinary College will address a meeting of Ulster county dairymen at the court house here Friday evening, January 20, at 7:45. He will discuss a practical program for cattle disease control. All the veterinarians of the county are invited to attend. It is said no cattle disease program could be carried out without the cooperation of the veterinarians.

This meeting has been arranged for by the dairy committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. It is one of the features of the program for the year. Dr. Birch is one of the leading authorities on diseases of dairy cattle, particularly Bang abortion, which causes heavy losses in our dairy herds. The initial testing of cattle for bovine tuberculosis is now practically completed and the committee feels that some kind of program should be inaugurated to control abortion and mastitis.

All dairymen of the county are invited to attend the meeting Friday night. It will probably not be possible to secure Dr. Birch again this year and C. L. Allen, chairman of the county dairy committee urges that all dairymen take advantage of this opportunity to meet with him. If the dairymen are sufficiently interested, it is possible that one or two demonstration herds will be established in the county under the supervision of Dr. Birch.

OPTIONAL BEER.

There was a general impression recently that the United States was soon going to be flooded with a deluge of beer. Second thought, reinforced by a careful survey of the situation, gives little support for this view. Suppose both the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Law are repealed. What then?

There are 37 states which have prohibition codes or which in other ways forbid the liquor traffic. Some are considering repeal. In many of these states there will doubtless be modification of existing laws. But apparently the country as it stands today is less in danger of a beer deluge than it was just before the federal dry amendment was adopted—and though many have forgotten it, the country was then mostly dry.

Not only will there still be a large number of states legally dry by their own choice, but there will be large areas of so-called wet states which were formerly dry under local option laws that still exist and presumably are still operative. In fact, the more one considers the American liquor situation for the near future, the more it looks like a great, flexible system of local option, with individual states, counties, cities and parts of cities possessing legal authority to bar the liquor traffic from their jurisdiction if they choose. There will doubtless be many experiments with legalized liquor traffic. But there is sure to be a great deal of legislation, old and new, by Congress and the state legislatures, protecting such units of population as want to be protected.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

Figures show that there is no crisis whatever caused by excessive imports in this country. Imports have fallen off greatly. We still have a surplus of exports—a "favorable trade balance." But this shrinking surplus is now threatened with new reprisals because of our growing propaganda to "buy American," a disease caught from England. It is time to face realities in this matter, to suppress the mob spirit and shallow pseudo-patriotism bred by the depression, to return to common sense in our business relations with other countries.

What all the nations, including our own, need now more than ever, is to sell more goods to each other, to create more work and more consuming power for all. As matters stand, with rising tariff walls everywhere and a world-wide demand for the exclusion of foreign products, the great producing and exchanging nations, which formerly grew rich by making things for each other, are bringing on themselves universal poverty. And they are doing this under the stress of a mob delusion which they mistake for patriotism!

It is time for enlightened leaders of opinion in all these countries to insist on removing, by reciprocal agreement, the present obstacles to trade, and thereby reviving industry and agriculture. Economists are inclined to regard this as a master-key to business revival.

OPTIMISTIC DEPOSITORS.

In January it is usual for money withdrawn in December to use as Christmas gifts, and funds which have been accumulated through Christmas savings clubs, to flow back into the banks. This year, the banks in one city report, the money being returned to old savings accounts and put into newly opened accounts represents more than the anticipated flow. They are convinced that substantial amounts of money are being taken out of hoarding and returned to the banking institutions.

Different banks report that accounts closed out last July have been re-opened and, in a surprising number of cases, in the exact amounts withdrawn. This movement is causing a feeling of optimism in that particular financial district. It seems to indicate, also, a feeling of optimism, or at the least an absence of fear, on the part of depositors. The next step should be to have the hoarded money put into commercial accounts and used for paying bills and making new purchases.

LESS PHILOSOPHY?

The number of books published in the United States in 1932 was one-eighth less than in 1931, but one-third more than in 1922. The total was 9,035 books. The novels, biographies, game books and books on economics increased. The decrease in output was found in philosophy, law, philology, technology, children's books and travel books.

The number of biographies and works of fiction almost doubled in the past decade. It might be added that many of the biographies of that period were fiction. Biographers, at any rate, took a good many liberties with facts. Apparently the public is not so much interested in serious reading as has been supposed. Or perhaps the publishers underestimate public taste when they put out so much frivolous reading—game books and novels—with few works in philosophy and serious travel. Perhaps, too, the philosophers have ceased philosophizing.

FOOD CAUSES "COLDS".

You have been told that a draft will not cause a cold, and yet experience has taught you that a draft will cause a cold "sometimes".

Why does a draft cause a cold at one time and not at another?

If you are tired and run down; if you are constipated; if you have been eating so much food that you have too much waste products in your blood and tissues, and you get into a draft for some time, then you may reasonably expect to get a cold. Why?

Because your disease fighters in the blood get chilled and can't do their work properly of fighting off organisms created by the wastes in the blood. Organisms of "colds" or other ailments can thus get a start. The healthy lining of your nose, for instance, can throw off harmful invading organisms even if they are inserted in the nose every ten minutes. Yet this lining can be so damaged by too many wastes in the body that its power to resist cold or other organisms is greatly lessened.

So much has this knowledge of the effects of certain foods, or too much food gained ground that a little poem by Emma Tolman East, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, is worth quoting:

"A cold is not a cold to me, it's Nature's way to tell
That I've been dining recently, not wisely but too well.
A snuffly nose has come to mean that I've enjoyed, erstwhile,
Some breaded pork chops, nestled deep in sweet spuds, 'Southern style.'

Or else, perchance, a wondrous steak with onions crisp and brown
Has made by liver make of me a menace to the town.
Or it might be a chunk of cheese or mince pie, hot and sweet;
But a cold is not a cold to me—it's just too much to eat."

You can readily see then that the latest way to cure a cold—a dose of Epsom salts, and no food for 24 to 36 hours—gets rid of the wastes already in the system, and prevents the formation of more wastes, until your fighting processes are again in good condition.

Care of House Plants

The leaves of house plants should be kept free from dust, hence frequent washings are absolutely essential, although when watering never wet the flowers of the plants or allow drops of water to stand on the leaves in the sunshine.

Smoke Clouds London's Sunshine

Smoke in the air is responsible for the city of London losing 300 hours of sunshine every year. In one month alone, December, there should be an average of 40 hours of sunshine, of which the city enjoys less than one-third.

$ Buying Barbara

by Julia Cleft-Addams • Author of "Too Cash Money"

SYNOPSIS: Leila Cane has told Barbara how Barbara's brilliant though unprincipled aunt blackmailed Leila by means of a portrait he did of her. Mark is in London with Farrell Armitage, who is spending his great wealth lavishly to cure Mark's lameness and launch him as an artist. Leila has arrived in time to help Barbara pack up some of the Lodely family goods. Barbara is aghast at Mark's conduct.

Chapter 31
TRUTHS FOR BARBARA

MECHANICALLY Barbara went on collecting the documents that still bestrewed the table. Judy had said that of her, that she was jealous of anyone else's power to help Mark. And she had denied that the accusation was just. She still denied it!

If all the millionaires in the world banded together to help him, for whatever reason, she would bless them and praise them. But when a girl, her rival for Mark's favor, had to buy him off with a sum of money—

"I must pay you back," she said. "I have been saving hard lately but now that I'm not to be married for at least a year, I can afford to let some of it go. Don't let's argue about this at least."

Leila suddenly began to shout at her again.

"You call everything 'argument' that you want to close your mind to. Any discussion, any contradiction is 'argument' and you won't listen. Probably you're not listening now, you're telling yourself that I'm trying to stop your marrying Mark because I want him.

"That's quite true, I do want him, or I think I do. Or perhaps you're telling yourself that I want to marry Farrell because I like him so much. That's true, too; when he told me he'd fallen in love with you, I said I'd help him get you."

"You had no right to promise. You knew—"

"Knew! I knew you and Mark were engaged and planned to marry! But what of that? Engagements are broken sometimes. Marriages don't take place. Businesses are sold or just neglected, interior decorators drop Toxeter whether Toxeter likes it or not and dash up to do jobs for famous actresses and millionaires.

"Life is a hazard and a risk, Barbara, as well as looking ahead and saving and working. It's funny—I'm no manner of use compared with you, but I can see that you're losing such a lot. You plod and wait and feel quite sure you love Mark and don't love Farrell and it's your duty not to listen to any argument about either—and all the while real life is riding by!"

The room was full of the smell of the lamp and the mustiness of an old house. Barbara thought irrelevantly how she had always hated Kings Barn. Well, at any rate, whatever happened, Mark would never have to live here again.

"Go and find paper and string," suggested Leila in her normal tones, "and we'll pack up this litter."

Barbara went obediently. Paper and string should be in a kitchen drawer, but she was not surprised when she could not find them.

While she rummaged she remembered, in a miserable confusion, that the emerald pendant was now in Armitage's possession. Her face scorched. She would have to ask him for it and, somehow, without explanation, let Mark have it back.

"There's a piece of paper here," called Leila.

Barbara gathered up all she had been able to find and returned to the sitting room. Leila was busy with a wrapping of her own contrivance.

"It's newspaper from the bottom of a drawer," she said. "Messy, isnt it? And not too strong. We'd better use what you found for an outer covering."

"It makes a smaller parcel than I thought," remarked Barbara, preoccupied.

Leila folded and turned and fastened diligently.

"How are you getting back to Toxeter? The last 'bus will have gone by now."

"There'll be a train later. Or I can walk. It's only my head that is so tired. Exercise will clear it."

"I'll drive you," said Leila, overriding all this. "My car's just down the road. And look here, could you possibly put me up for the night at Toxeter? I never felt less like South-the-Water."

"I could, but I think you'd hate it. A camp bed; and bread and cocoa for supper. Besides—"

"What?"

"I've got to see your mother tomorrow about some panelling and I don't much like deceiving her."

Leila turned out the lamps and marched Barbara out of the house. She seemed determined that no sentimental farewells should be taken of the place. She piloted Barbara out to the car, threw the parcel of papers into her lap and still in silence drove down the road and began to skirt the town.

"You always make me sound such a prig," said Barbara, to her own surprise. There were tears in her eyes. "And I'm not, really."

"You don't sound like a prig. You sound steady and steadiness is out of date. And you sound beautiful, and it's not fashionable to have a beautiful voice. I don't wonder Farrell Armitage—"

"I wish you'd drive more carefully," protested Barbara in desperation. "You very nearly ran over that old woman!"

"I've very nearly run over so many old women. Sit tight, now, when we're over Upper Mallard hill I shall let her rip."

Barbara sat tight. She was not frightened; she loved speed. She remembered how Farrell had let her drive his big car and, later, how he himself had driven, his hands sure and steady on the wheel, his eyes sure and steady on this very road.

Leila was letting the little scarlet car rip but this was not speed. This was just going too fast. It didn't give one the same sense of power, the same absolute confidence.

She was just beginning to realize that she would like to be driven by Farrell Armitage again, when Leila shot into Toxeter, and drew up at the gate of the new house.

Barbara jumped out. As though she had only now received the gift of sight, she eyed her house, her unmade garden, the Lodely luggage on the front path (not on the back porch as the garage man had been directed), the ugly wooden shed in which she worked. Oh, it was all so raw—and she had been so proud of it!

"You can't put your car anywhere, I'm afraid, Leila."

"I'll leave it out, this once. It's going to be a mild night.... I say, Barbara, you needn't worry your good little head about my deceiving ways. I want to dodge seeing mother tonight, but I shall very probably want a chat with father tomorrow. Now let's battle with Judy's junk."

In spite of Barbara's protests, Leila insisted on taking the larger share of the task. Heartily cursing their weight and complexity, she hauled and hoisted the Lodely things into Mark's quarters.

Then she helped to prepare a room for herself. By the time supper was ready they could partake of it in an almost intimate silence. The lost comradeship of childhood hovered. Leila, thought Barbara, was nice, she was honest, deep down. It was amazing that, when Farrell could have married her, he should ever have preferred anyone else.

"I'll turn in, Barbara. I'm frightfully grateful to you for letting me be here."

"I'm frightfully grateful to you for not calling me Babs. Judy always does and—"

"Judy! She makes me sick!"

She swung off and Barbara, too tired even to put away the supper things, went to bed also.

But she was not too tired to dream. Again and again she dreamed it—that she stood in a darkened room and listened to the voices of people she could not see. But she knew who they were.

Mark's voice she heard and Judy's, Leila's and Sugar Cane's. Some telling her this, some that; and when she put her hands to her ears, they spoke louder. Only Farrell Armitage was not there in that heavy, unhappy darkness. And when she woke, at dawn, the tears were on her face. Was it possible, she asked herself almost in fear, that they were tears connected in any way with Farrell?

Leila got up, tiptoed to the partition between her own and Barbara's room, and listened a long time. There could be no doubt that Barbara was sleeping, although it was not a quiet sleep. Then she returned to the bed (there was no chair), took a bulging envelope full of Mrs. Lodely's vari-colored assortment of papers from her handbag, and began going through them carefully and systematically.

"That damn well finishes father," she muttered, as at last she turned out the light. "Whatever else may or may not be true, father's goose is cooked."

Mark's personality is dissected, tomorrow, by a capable "surgeon."

Volunteer Aid Committee Met

The Volunteer Aid Committee held a meeting at the city hall Friday evening with 19 members present.

The president, Mrs. Snyder, gave a report of the work done, and stated that the rooms had been closed since December 24 on account of lack of funds.

The treasurer, D. N. Mathews, reported a deficit of $163.

After a discussion of the matter it was voted to carry on the work as soon as enough money was available to warrant it, but to confine it to the purchase of shoes and clothing for school children, the mayor stating that the city would care for needy adults.

Mayor Carey was appointed to name his own committee to raise funds for the work.

As Mrs. Snyder is to be absent from the city for some time, the vice presidents, Mrs. M. H. Herzog, Mrs. George F. Rice and Mrs. F. B. Matthews will supervise the work.

At Mr. Herzog's suggestion the work relief will finance the paying of necessary help.

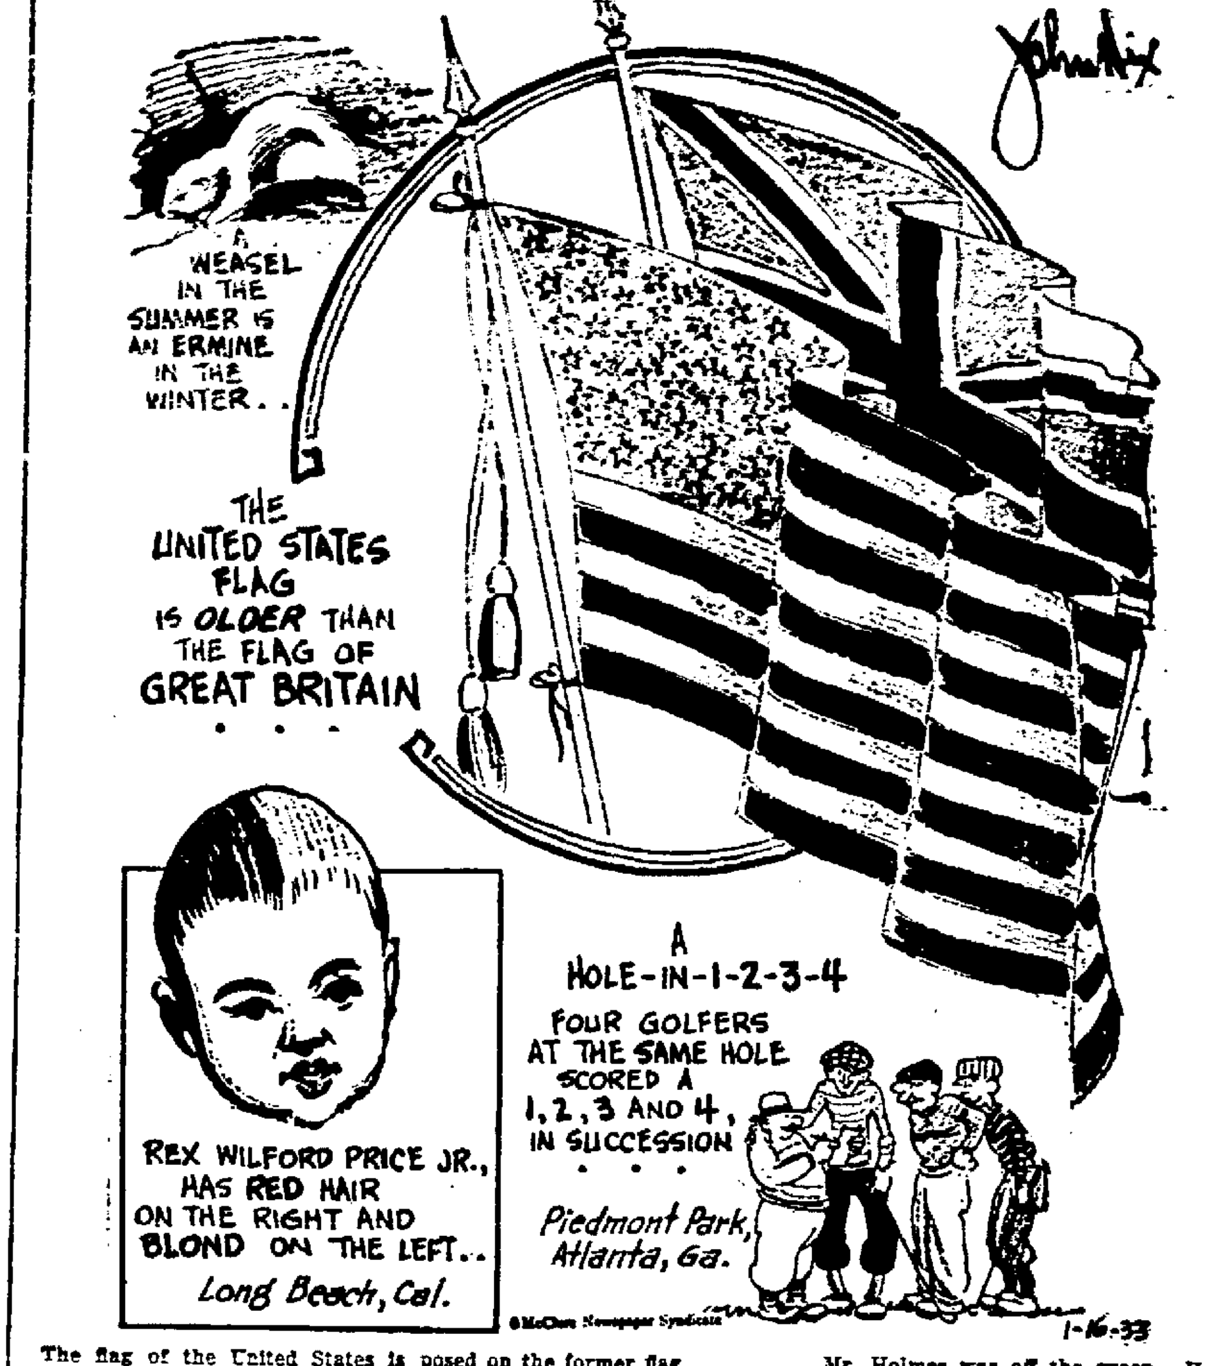

Superintendent of Schools Van Ingen commended most highly the thorough and efficient work of the committee and also the promptness with which all needy children were cared for.

It is earnestly requested that all citizens who have not made a contribution to this fund will do so at the earliest possible moment so that no child shall be forced to stay out of school on account of shoes or proper clothing.

Measure Speed Up to 1,000

Scientists claim that they can now measure speed up to about 1,000 miles an hour.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by John Hix

The flag of the United States is older by 24 years than the flag of Great Britain. The United States' stars and stripes was adopted in 1777 and has remained unchanged since with the exception of adding stars in the field of blue to represent states as they were added to the Union. The flag of 1777 had 13 stars, of course.

The present flag of Great Britain, the Union Jack, came into being in 1801 after the union with Ireland. The older flag was changed with the red cross of St. Patrick superimposed on the former flag.

The strange play at the first hole of the Piedmont Park municipal golf course at Atlanta, Ga., was in a foursome including L. G. Taylor, H. E. Mayfield, J. Ward and G. N. Holmes. The hole-in-one-two-three-four was played as follows:

Mr. Taylor teed off singing the 183-yard hole in one. Mr. Mayfield was next. He drove onto the green, but his ball stopped within two feet of the hole. He scored a two. Mr. Ward was just on the green. He took two putts, holing out in three. Mr. Holmes was off the green. He chipped on and sank his ball in two putts.

My Skin was Pimply Until I Used Resinol

"The pores were enlarged, and, at the same time my skin was so dry and sensitive I had to be very careful what I used on it. A friend of mine was sure Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap would help me, so I bought some from my druggist. They helped my skin so much I am delighted with the results."

ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN AND REAP THE REWARDS.

You should know the Truth about the cigarette you smoke

A great deal of confusion has been caused by certain representations made in cigarette advertising. A clamor of competitive claims has bewildered the public. We have received hundreds of letters asking us the truth about the conflicting claims of various brands. Because Camel first popularized cigarette smoking, because Camel has sold more billions of cigarettes than any other brand, we were the natural people to write to. And we are the natural people to tell the facts about cigarettes. We have always offered an honest cigarette, honestly advertised.

1. Question: What is the mildest cigarette?

Answer: The fact that a cigarette is insipid and tasteless does not mean that it is mild. The fact that it has been artificially flavored or scented does not mean it is mild. Mildness means that a cigarette is so made that it is gentle and non-irritating without sacrifice of flavor. This is almost entirely a question of the quality of the tobaccos and the skill in their blending. Practically all of today's popular cigarettes are manufactured and rolled in much the same way. The difference comes in the tobaccos that are used. While the irritating effects of cheap, raw tobaccos can be removed to some extent by intensive treatment, nothing can take the place of the more expensive, naturally fine tobaccos. The mildest cigarette is the cigarette that is made of the best tobaccos. It's the tobacco that counts.

2. Question: What cigarette has the best flavor?

Answer: There are just three factors that control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring. The blending of various tobaccos. And the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is by far the most important. Cheap, raw tobacco can be disguised in part by artificial flavoring. But it can never equal the goodness of mild, ripe, costly tobaccos. Adding a number of poor things together will not make a good thing. And when you consider that domestic cigarette tobaccos vary in price all the way from 5¢ a pound up to 40¢ a pound, and imported tobaccos from 50¢ to $1.15 (the difference in cigarette flavors is readily apparent. Tobacco men long ago learned to choose, for flavor, the cigarette blended from the costlier tobaccos. It's the tobacco that counts.

3. Question: What cigarette is easiest on the throat?

Answer: The easiest cigarette on your throat is the cigarette that is made from the choicest ripe tobaccos. Cheap grades of tobacco are, as you would naturally expect, harsh in their effects upon the throat. And there is a peppery dust occurring to some extent in all tobaccos. Finding its way into many cigarettes, this dust has a decidedly irritating effect. A special vacuum cleaning process has been developed that removes all trace of dust. The absolute rejection of inferior tobaccos and elimination of this dust represent the highest standards ever attained in cigarette manufacture. The cigarette that is blended from the most expensive tobaccos under these modern conditions is as non-irritating as any smoke can possibly be. It's the tobacco that counts.

4. Question: What about heat treating?

Answer: This is one of the real superstitions of the tobacco business. All cigarette manufacturers use the heat-treating process. But harsh, inferior, raw tobaccos require considerably more intensive treatment than choice ripe tobaccos. High temperatures conceal, to some extent, the harsh effects of low-cost tobacco, although this parching process may produce a rather flat and lifeless flavor. But neither the heat treatment nor any other treatment can take the place of good tobacco. Heat can never make inferior tobaccos good. It's the tobacco that counts.

5. Question: What cigarette is coolest?

Answer: Many myths have been woven around "coolness." The facts are simple: Coolness is determined by the speed of burning. Fresh cigarettes, containing as they do 12% moisture, burn more slowly than parched, dry cigarettes. That is why they smoke cooler. This makes the method of wrapping very important. Improperly wrapped cigarettes begin to dry out as soon as packed. They smoke hot and dry. The Humidor Pack, although more expensive, gives protection ordinary cellophane cannot equal. It is made of 3-ply, MOISTURE-PROOF cellophane, tailored snugly to the package, and WELDED into a seamless envelope. Air cannot get in. Freshness cannot get out. The cigarettes are always in prime condition. An illusion of coolness can be achieved by adding certain chemicals to tobacco. But even chemicals cannot do more than mask the heat of quick-burning, dry tobaccos. The coolest cigarette is the freshest cigarette—the least irritating, the one that has the costliest tobacco. A cigarette blended from expensive tobaccos tastes cooler than one that is harsh and acrid. It's the tobacco that counts.

6. Question: What is the purest cigarette?

Answer: All popular cigarettes are made under sanitary conditions unsurpassed even in the packing of foods. All cigarettes are made with practically identical modern machinery. Uniformly fine cigarette paper is used. If any single manufacturer should claim superior purity it could only be interpreted as a confession of weakness unless he pinned his claim exclusively on the tobacco he used. Purity in a cigarette lies in the tobacco used. Choice grades of tobacco from which even the fine dust of the tobacco itself has been removed, are less irritating, therefore "purer" than inferior tobaccos. It's the tobacco that counts.

7. Question: What about blending?

Answer: Even if other manufacturers should in the future use the finer, more expensive tobaccos which go into Camels, they would still be unable to duplicate Camel's matchless blending. Tobaccos are blended to give a cigarette its own distinctive individuality. The characteristic delicacy and flavor of the Camel blend have won not only the esteem of the American public, but the sincere admiration of other cigarette manufacturers, who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars and years of effort trying to discover how the costly tobaccos in Camels are blended. But in vain. Camel's matchless blend is a priceless asset. Yet its fine full flavor is made possible because Camels use more expensive tobaccos. It's the tobacco that counts.

It is a Fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. We actually pay MILLIONS MORE every year to insure your enjoyment.

OFFICE CAT.

By Jimberg

When the car stopped out on the highway and an investigation disclosed that there was no gasoline, the backseat driver said: "Well, why stop here? Why don't you drive on to a filling station?"

About the only "blessed event" the young couples of today look forward to is the day when the last installment on the car is paid.

Too many modern girls are more interested in having a car of their own, than they are a husband of their own.

Ikey—Ohhhh! Vat you tink? I was arrested for speedink today.

Able—Vat, you? Vy, you have no car, half you?

Ikey—No, not dat. Speedink on de sidewalk.

Some men buy cars they can't pay for, some build homes they can't keep up.—others simply marry the type of girl they can't afford.

Warning to Drivers: It is an easy matter to lose control of your car . . . Especially if you are behind on the payments.

Getting married is like driving a car with silent gears. Women can now shift from first to second and third husbands, without a clash.

After some young men enter an engagement they act like a motorist who has entered a one-way street. The first thing they think of is to back out.

The man who rocks the boat is the same fellow who never slows up for a grade crossing.

His Boss—Judson, I found this long blonde hair on the back sent of my limousine. My wife's hair is black.

Chauffeur—I'll give you an explanation, sir.

Boss—Explanation nothing. What I want is an introduction.

Marriage used to last longer in those days a husband never had to teach his wife to play bridge or to drive a car.

You can always tell when you get on the wrong road; there are no detour signs.

The best means of accident prevention would be a delicate contrivance to lock the steering wheel when it smells hootch or booze.

On Back Seat Driving: A man was driving a car, hoping to reach a certain destination at a certain time. He started to turn into a street. From the backseat his wife said: "Don't turn there, drive on three blocks." He did, losing the way altogether. Finally, turned back, going into the street he started to enter in the first place. He reached his destination too late to keep his appointment, and, of course, was mad. Here's a rule for backseaters, who are married: When your husband is driving the car have confidence in him. Trust him as a driver. If you can't do that, get out of the car and stay out.

Everybody is for lowering the automobile license fees. It means that much more money for gasoline.

Ragson Tatters—I have an attachment on my Ford.

Friend—What's it for?

Ragson—For debt, of course.

Finally all highways will be widened and then two cars can start around you and meet two more and tangle six at once.

A naturalist has found in Chile earthworms a yard long making a left turn without signaling.

West Shokan Has Public Library

West Shokan, Jan. 16.—Through the generosity of B. Frank Hayes, who for a number of years past has maintained a summer home in Watson Hollow, a West Shokan Community Library has been started. The library is located at the Bushkill school house and is in charge of the teacher, Miss Hazel Bell, of Shokan. At present there are over 100 volumes of fiction to be loaned. If you like to read detective stories, modern novels, romance, call at the schoolhouse at noon time or after school hours from 3:30 to 4 p. m. of any school day. Mr. Hayes, who is a great lover of books, the collecting of which he makes as a hobby, has in his private library at his summer home at Watson Hollow, 500 volumes or more.

To the younger generation of West Shokanites, a public library may be something entirely new. However, to those whose memory antedates the coming of the Ashokan reservoir it will be readily recalled that there was for years a well stocked traveling library located at the residence of Irvin P. Winnie. There also was located the West Shokan telephone central office in charge of Miss Mabel Winnie as operator, who later became the wife of Egbert R. Boice, now residing in Kingston.

Then retracing the flight of time down through the years those of the preceding generation yet living may recall that sixty or more years ago the Watson Hollow school housed a public library, which was started by one of the Hollow's most outstanding citizens, Col. Harrison White. A number of these books finally found their way to the Bushkill school where some of these old aged, browned and much handled volumes may yet be found. This collection with others added from time to time came to make for the caption the "Bushkill School Library." And too, the West Shokan Baptist Church at one time contained a well stocked and up-to-date library. At the present time the West Shokan school has a very nice collection of books, many of which are up-to-date, and more are added each year from an approved list. Stored away in the attic is a set of discarded books on various subjects largely of a historical nature published about 1840. So after all, there is nothing new under the sun in West Shokan—Selah.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Color Versus Black and White

New York—It is a time-honored custom to launch a number of new shades each season. They may be the same old shades under new names, or they may be just enough of a variation to justify new names, but the game is to find appropriate names for the colors employed—as for instance, the shade termed "camel."

In coatings particularly, the shade of camel is a popular and practical neutral. Its subtle grayish cast makes it an easy combination color. It is just light enough to show up to advantage neat novelty weaves and dark enough to withstand city wear without getting too dirty. You may be more familiar with this shade under the name of "nut-brown,"-but whatever you elect to call it, do not underestimate its importance.

Though fully conscious of the fact that it is monotonous to keep on talking of black and white as being again good, what can one do but say so if it really continues to be good? It's not wise to take things for granted in fashion—not nowadays, anyway.

Whatever the faults of the current season, one cannot lay the charge of monotony at its door. There are the usual "fords" for "uniforms"—popular models that have been chosen again and again—but taken as a whole, women seem less given to getting in a rut than ever before. It is undoubtedly because so much was offered at the beginning of the season that one really had some choice in the matter of what one wore. Naturally, an interesting season has been the result.

There has been an abundance of black and white, but it would be entirely untrue to call it a black and white season, and if hunches mean anything, it seems to me that we will be able to make the same comment about the spring season. Early collections indicate, as an outstanding feature, the attention given to color contrasts, especially the play of dark on light, and light on dark, approved especially in daytime and afternoon dresses and costumes.

White Cleverly Introduced

Illustrated is a black and white dress of sheer crepe with a tiny cross bar. Extremely decorative sleeves are cut in one with the bodice.

Collarless Coats Borrow The Dress Collar

The fashion of the dress neckline showing above a collarless coat will doubtless see development this spring. Designers are doing a great deal with this idea in ensembles. There is, for instance, a coat that opens to the waistline at front, and another cut out into a deep square. Still another has a wide bateau line from shoulder to shoulder but is bordered with fur.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Fisherman jerseys are high-light, ed, meaning all-wool types with long sleeves and high roll collar.

Comments are made upon the general favor for hats with shallow left sides, worn at an angle which makes the right side very deep. Brims upturned at back are shown in new effects.

Sidewalks of New York" Home of Author

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—The irony of life is sometimes life has put James W. Blake, at the age of 70, on the "Sidewalks of New York" he immortalized.

Hardly more than four years ago a great political party rallied to the ring in a campaign to elect as president a man who had risen to high office from those same "sidewalks", long before that Lottie Gilson had reproduced it from a Bowery stage, and it swept the land.

"East side, west side,
All around the town—"

James W. Blake who wrote those words, spent his last penny yesterday, and turned (where else was there for him?) to the sidewalks of his song.

"The tots sing 'ring around Rosie,
"London bridge is falling down'—"

Well, they did when Jimmy Blake, office clerk, set down his lyrics, his dream to pavements. There's not much "ring around Rosie" now; somehow the kids like "cops and robbers" better. And they do not sing as they used to.

"Boys and girls together,
Me and Mamie O'Rourke—"

Mamie is dead. She was real, just as were "little Jimmy Crowe" and "Pikey Krause, the baker, who always had the dough," and "pretty Nellie Shannon, with a dude as light as cork." They are dead, too. Only the song lives on, anthem of a metropolis, theme song to a presidential candidate.

It was a year ago that Blake lost his job as salesman. Since then it has been bitter going. His last coins were spent yesterday for coffee for himself, his blind brother and his 11-year-old sister.

"They would part with all they've got could they but once more walk

Jimmy Blake wrote it, and with the late Charles B. Lawlor who provided the melody, he divided the $5,000 for which the song was sold. Money gone, Blake still could smile today.

"To think," he said, "that I founded the Elephants, an organization which made only one demand upon its members, and that was that they smile!"

A line of the song came back:

"Things have changed since those times;
Some are up in G—"

Maybe, a few. But not Jimmy Blake. Perhaps things will be better now. His case is in the hands of charitable groups; and friends who have waltzed to the lilt of the Lawlor-Blake song won't forget, especially those who

"Tripped the light fantastic
O-o-o-n-n the Sidewalks of New York."

Dorothy Major Plays The Role of "Becky"

Miss Dorothy Major, who plays the role of "Becky" in the Clare Tree Major production of "Sara Crewe," coming to the Broadway Theatre on Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, has appeared in leading roles in many of the Children's Theatre productions. Miss Major is a daughter of Charles Major, author of the all-time best sellers, "When Knighthood Was In Flower" and "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall." Before entering upon her theatrical career, Miss Major spent some time at a fashionable Quaker school in Westtown, Pa. In addition to her appearances with The Children's Theatre, Miss Major has acted with a Shakespearean repertory company and in stock in Miami.

John Hibbard, who plays the minor role of Mr. Carmichael in "Sara Crewe," has appeared in stock in Hoboken and in West Virginia and has also done moving picture and radio work.

This year DeSoto is putting out a very complete line of six cylinder cars and S. J. Van Kleeck invites the public to inspect the new line at the show rooms. Several models are on the floor ready for the public inspection, and in the 1933 model will be found many very interesting innovations in the motor car field.

Beware the Cough or Cold that Hangs On

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it checks and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Makes You Forget You Have False Teeth

Don't worry about your false teeth rocking, slipping or wabbling. Fasteeth, a new improved powder holds them firm and comfortable all day. No gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Eat, laugh and talk with comfort. Get Fasteeth from your druggist.

WHY

Constant Cry of Baby Is Worry to Mothers.

A baby who cries constantly is a source of irritation, and no mother should allow her child to form this habit. At the very outset the reason must be traced and the cure found.

Impatient nurses attribute to temper what is often the child's form of protest against some discomfort or pain.

A child often cries from thirst. Constant sips of water should be given to baby, especially when the little gums are hot when cutting teeth. Orange juice is excellent, too.

He may cry from hunger. That should never happen if the hours of feeding are regular and he is fully nourished. Each child has his own peculiarities. What is enough for one baby of nine months may not satisfy another of that age.

A child sometimes cries and refuses to finish his bottle. He may not want all of it if he is cutting teeth. Then do not force it. Throw away what is left and give fresh next time.

Baby may wake up crying. Is he getting enough air? A screen can guard against draughts if he has a cold, but the room should be warm and well ventilated.

A child often cries from fright. Never scold or frighten a baby for slight lapses. Praise when some effort has been made; overlook slight misbehavior, especially while teething. Never emphasize wrongdoing by recalling it. Encourage the child to realize the satisfaction that comes of obedience. Children are very sensitive to praise or blame, and easily frightened.

Why New Zealand Sheep Men Want Kea Killed Off

The kea, a large olive-green parrot of New Zealand, is a good example of the way in which temptations provided by man have led many wild creatures to bad predatory habits. Before sheep were introduced by man into the South Island, the native habitat of these birds, they fed chiefly on insects. Refuse carelessly disposed of attracted them to sheep slaughtering pens where they learned to feed on sheeps heads and other waste scraps of meat. The taste thus acquired finally led them to alight on the backs of living sheep and pull out wool, sometimes even reaching and tearing out pieces of flesh. For this propensity the herdsmen have made war upon them and killed so many that they are now exceedingly rare.

Why Children Tell Lies

Children tell lies for different reasons. One class of lies is due to a misunderstanding or misapprehension by the child of what has happened to him or what has been said to him. Tense may be the cause of other lies. The child may not know the difference between "I did" and "I will" and "I mean to." Another class of lies is due to confusion of the fancied with the real. A child may believe that his dreams were actual events. A fourth type of children's lies is deception where a conscious substitution of the untrue for the true is made. One reason for deception is fear. Another is to gain his own way without friction. A third reason is to attract attention, while a fourth is the desire to preserve one's self-respect or the respect of one's associates. A child often lies to avoid ridicule.

Why the Word "Chapter"?

You may many times have spoken of something you have read or studied as "coming under the head of" such and such a title or this or that idea. If you did, it was quite unthinking of any significance in the term, or of that endless chain of thought and association which makes so fascinating the history of words.

For it is from "head" that we have "chapter." We have it through the French from the Latin "capitulum" which is the diminutive of "caput," head. For us it names an important division of a book, and its meaning has been extended to include a group division of people in a church or other organization body—for instance, the "ladies' chapter" of the church workers.

Why the Word "Fond" Is O. K.

That use of the word "fond" to indicate foolish tenderness or weak parental indulgence gives up the only connecting link between its present use and its origin. Today "fond" is a quite respected member of our vocabulary. To be fond of some one implies liking and affection, and we do not hesitate so to term our sentiments. Originally, however, it meant quite plainly, "foolish." We have the word from the Middle English "fonnen"—"to be foolish." That was subsequently specialized to foolish affection, and in turn the idea of foolish ness (except in the special connotion given above) entirely evaporated, leaving only the thought of affection.—Kansas City Times.

Why Black-Orange Auto Plates

Ohio's 1933 automobile license plate colors—black letters on an orange background—were selected because they have good visibility under adverse weather conditions. Motor Vehicle Registrar Col. Chalmers R. Wilson said.

Why Blackfeet Were So Named

The Blackfeet Indians were given that name because they were black moccasins at the time they first came in contact with the whites. Two groups were so known—the Siksaqa Blood and a group of Algonquins.

A SEAT in the CABINET?

NORMAN H. DAVIS

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles picturing briefly men and women mentioned for posts in the Roosevelt cabinet.).

Persistent mention of Norman H. Davis as secretary of state in the Roosevelt cabinet is heard in certain quarters.

One of the outstanding qualifications of the 54-year-old Tennessee Democrat, whose work with the Republican regime brought him into prominence speculatively as the possible successor to Henry L. Stimson, is his familiarity with international affairs gained as American delegate at the Geneva conferences.

However, as luck would have it, so the story goes in political circles, it is very same Europeon assignment which has roused the factional ire of certain Democrats.

Upon his return from Europe recently Mr. Davis went first to Washington to report to President Hoover. A few days later he called upon President-elect Roosevelt, whom he has known since war days when Mr. Davis as assistant treasurer was in charge of foreign loans, and Mr. Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—The stock market again crept cautiously forward at the start of the new week today.

Trading was in restricted volume, and still appeared to be largely professional, but there was a notable absence of selling pressure—before midday a number of prominent shares had advanced from fractions to more than a point, and those gains were well maintained into the early afternoon.

Issues up ½ to 1½ points included Allied Chemical, American Can, American Telephone, Case, Standard of California, U. S. Steel, Owens Illinois Glass, DuPont, Consolidated Gas, Corn Products, United Aircraft and others. Homestake Mining had a relapse of 4½ points, but then regained part of its loss. Motors and tobaccos were about steady.

Indications that business was experiencing a seasonal pickup after the holiday period was regarded as hopeful. Slow improvement in steel production was noted. The trend in that industry is usually upward until a seasonal peak is reached toward the end of March. The trend then normally levels off through April, and declines from then to midyear. How far the upswing to March will go this year, presumably, will depend upon the success the automobile industry has in marketing its new models, and trends in building and railway equipment. Some quarters look for a fair seasonal pickup in building activity. How much equipment the carriers may buy is regarded as problematical.

Reports of the movement of freight for the week ended January 14 will begin to appear during the next couple of days, and will give the first indications of the January movement, freed from the confusing influence of the holidays, which this year fell in different weeks than last, making comparisons valueless.

MARLBOROUGH PLANS RELIEF FOR UNEMPLOYED

Milton, Jan. 16—Members of the Town Board of Marlborough and representatives of the Lion's Club and the Taxpayers Association met Wednesday afternoon to plan a program to be carried out as a welfare project in the town of Marlborough. Mr. Deyo of the county welfare office met with the group. He will submit the projects decided upon to the state commissioner for approval. The projects of relief work must be confirmed by the state which will pay 40 per cent of the total amount appropriated for such work. Only unemployed men of the town will be given work on any of the projects approved by the state commission. Applicants for the work are now being sought and names should be given to E. B. Warren, town welfare officer. He in turn will submit these names to Mr. Bevier of the county welfare office. Each case will be investigated in order that the work may be given to the men who need it most. The work planned by the committee last Wednesday includes widening of curves and improvement of several roads in the town. At Wednesday's meeting were Frank Johnston and Cluett Schantz, representing the Lion's Club, Herbert Sears, as representative of the town Taxpayers Association, and the town board members.

HOW—

SPIDERS FIND WAY BACK TO DEN IN THEIR WEB.— When a spider leaves the hiding place in an obscure corner of its net to put an end to a fly that has become entangled in some other portion of the web it has little difficulty in finding its way back to its sheltered nook to wait for the arrival of the next victim. This ability of the spider to find its way unerringly to a definite spot has been the subject of considerable speculation among scientists and now Dr. Hans Peters reports in Die Umschau, of Frankfort-on-Main, that he thinks the spider is guided back to its resting place by gravitation. When it wants to return, he says, the spider apparently recalls the way in which gravitation affected its body when it was on its way to the fly. Doctor Peters found that when the net was reversed while the spider was busy killing the fly it invariably missed its hiding place by running "back" in the opposite direction.

How Asthma Is Treated With Artificial Fever

The success with which malaria has been treated with artificially induced fever has been suggested as a means of attacking several other diseases, among them being asthma.

Drs. Samuel M. Feinberg, Stafford L. Osborne and Meyer J. Steinberg of Chicago have done some outstanding work in this particular field and recently reported their results to the American Medical association.

These physicians had noted that the asthmatic condition of patients suffering from such diseases as scarlet fever and pneumonia usually improved. This gave them an idea, which they proceeded to follow by treating 42 asthma patients with artificial fever produced by electrical heating. Nineteen of the 42 showed remarkable improvement, being freed from asthma attacks for considerable periods of time.

The treatment is carried out by placing the patients, after carefully testing their resistance and anointing them with oil, into an electrically heated bag. The temperature within the bag is then raised to about 104 degrees and kept there for about eight hours, the patient being kept under careful observation during the process.—Philadelphia Record.

How Dog Races Are Run

There are two types of dog racing in the United States, differing according to the breed of dog used. The first and oldest is with greyhounds and the second is with whippets. The greyhounds run on a circular track similar to that used in a horse race. The incentive in the case of the greyhounds is a mechanical rabbit which runs on a rail near the inside rail and is always kept just a short distance ahead of the leading dog. There are no individual lanes in a greyhound race, the dog getting the inside track having the advantage. Whippet races, on the contrary, are usually run on a straight course and each dog is required to stay in his individual lane—otherwise he is disqualified. The lanes are marked by strips of ribbon or ropes stretched on short pegs. The handler or trainer of the dogs generally stands at the far end of the course, with a rag or piece of cloth, which he waves in order to attract the dogs' attention. Very little incentive is actually needed, however, to make these dogs run, since the racing instinct is in their blood. The whippet is merely a miniature edition of the greyhound and both breeds have been developed largely for racing purposes.

How to Print Leaves

Prints of leaves are much more satisfactory than pressed samples of the leaves themselves, and are most easy to make, says Nature Magazine. The materials are a thick piece of glass about 12 by 15 inches, a tube of printer's ink, either black or green, a rubber roller, such as photographers use, sheets of white drawing paper, and old newspapers.

The prints are made by placing a small amount of printer's ink upon the glass and spreading it smooth with the roller. The leaf is then pressed veinside down upon the inked surface, covered with a piece of newspaper, and rolled with the roller until thoroughly inked. It is next transferred from the glass to a sheet of drawing paper, covered with a clean newspaper, and rolled just once. A second rolling may cause it to smear. When the newspaper and the leaf are lifted, a beautiful print remains, useful for an indefinite period.

How Word "Etiquette" Started

While gardener at the royal palace in Versailles, France, was much annoyed by courtiers walking over his newly made grounds. He placed labels, or "etiquettes," as they were called, to indicate where they might pass. To "keep within the etiquettes" by royal wish became the correct thing, and this word, broadened in meaning, is a common one today.

How Wood Becomes Petrified

When wood or other vegetable matter is buried in soil charged with petrifying material, it becomes saturated with it and the cells filled with infiltrated matter. When the wood decays the petrifying material is left, retaining the structure of the wood. The most common petrifying materials are silica, carbonate of lime and sulphide of iron.

Smile Choicy About Water

The millions of smile and clams that make their homes in the lakes and rivers of Wisconsin are no particular as most housewives concerning water, for like housewives, these strange little animals demand either hard or soft water in the place in which they take up their residence.

Importance of Feet

Beauty of the feet consists of the neatness and fineness of their shape and not in the smallness or shortness. No other part of the body requires more care. Comfortable feet are necessary to perfect health as well as to personal attractiveness. Ill-fitting shoes throw the body out of proper balance so that a graceful, easy carriage is impossible. The feet support the weight of the whole body, and may be compared to the foundation of a building.

Smile, Mussels High Climbers

In the Himalayas sea snails and mussels have been found at a height of 20,000 feet.

About the Folks

Dr. George L. Ross of Port Ewen is recuperating from an attack of grip at Miami, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Nadal of 145 Henry street left Sunday for Palm Beach, Florida, where they will spend a two weeks' vacation.

Michael Martire of 1 Beach street sailed for Italy on Saturday on the Italian liner Conti Di Savoia, and will not return to Kingston until some time in May.

Mrs. Frank R. Powley accompanied by Miss Hattie Old of Summit, N. J., is leaving town tomorrow for Orlando, Florida, where she will spend the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. David Doughty is still confined to her bed at 80 North Front street, but is slowly improving under the care of her physician, Dr. Van Gaasbeek, from a fall she received December 24.

Audrey Britcliffe, who has been confined to her home at 100 Green street for the past two weeks, suffering from a severe attack of grip, is improving and expects to be out within a day or so.

The many friends of Miss Caroline Every of Kingsburg avenue, who has been confined to her home the past two weeks with the flu, will be glad to hear that she has recovered and is able to be around again.

Hiram D. Wood of 119 Prospect street, who recently was stricken with a slight attack of paralysis, is improving and is able to again walk about his home. Mr. Wood is 86 years of age and is able to read newspapers without the aid of glasses.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Merchant, Jr., and son of Amsterdam; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Merchant and daughter of Millerton; Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Merchant and three children of Deposit; Mrs. P. F. Klein of Hancock, were Sunday guests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. O. A. Merchant, 154 Henry street.

Tucked Revers

This sport ensemble from Paris has a skirt of Swiss wool in dark brown and white and a jacket in yellow duvetyne. The tucked effect is something very smart and quite new.

DESIGNERS OFFER BRAND NEW STYLES

Objectionable Features of Costumes Wiped Out.

Shut your eyes for a moment and visualize on a huge panoramic slate, all the fashions that have been conspicuous for the past six months. This is what Parisian couturiers have done, and before they went about designing their new models they took a sponge and, standing before each figure on the slate, very carefully wiped off the objectionable features of each dress or ensemble.

Then they backed off a little to take a look at the result and returned to replace the obliterated sections with their latest ideas as conceived upon last mistakes and successes.

Now open your eyes and see the result! We have clothes that are today's clothes. They are not dug out of the wardrobe of some deceased great lady—no matter how great she may have been, nor how respected for her social prestige. She had her day—now we have ours. There are several landmarks that characterize today's clothes, the chief one of which is unostentatiousness. Yesterday's clothes often have obliterated the owner—drowned her personality in trying to show her off to the best advantage.

NEW COAT LENGTHS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

You can see for yourself from the sketches here reproduced what they are—the new shorter lengths for coats. Choose either a three-quarter or a finger-tip length and you will be following the dictates of fashion. Notice that the lines fall loose from the shoulder in swagger effect which also carries an important message. Not only are youthful evening velvet wraps accenting these shortened silhouettes, but some of the smartest fur coats are fashioned along these new lines. The costume pictured to the left is designed of smart woolens in beige for the dress and brown for the coat, for incoming fashions all stress the vogue for sharp contrasts. The finger-tip swagger coat to the left is in Lyons velvet.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Chinchilla fur has come into its own this winter.

Lyons velvets continue to score for evening coats.

Taffeta, plain or fancy, is a featured fabric for evening dresses.

Prominent couturiers express enthusiasm for lace alone or as a trimming.

Fine knife pleating in flounce depth finishes short capes also skirts.

It is a season of sparkle and elegance so far as evening accessories are concerned.

Smart Parisiennes are wearing red or purple hats corresponding to their costumes.

Fashion News Lists Red at Top of Winter Colors

When fashion news from Paris lists red at the top of fashionable new colors, it means not only the old familiar reds we are accustomed to, but dozens of other new hues as well. There is a whole new family of colors with red as a basis—reds mixed with browns, with blue, with yellows. French stylists, who have been working for months on winter color schemes, have managed to find enough reds to suit any type of woman.

One of the most popular reds right now is one which verges on rust. It is called brick, and though somewhat similar to the rust of last season and the henna of seasons before, it has a certain grayed quality that makes it more wearable than either of these two.

Velvet on Wool

Velvet on wool is a favorite method of trimming this season. A velvet yoke and collar appears on a wool or silk dress, or even velvet puffs to the sleeves. A smart model of green wool has brown velvet yoke and bow.

Studded Belts

French women who are following the edicts of Chanel, famous designer, are wearing leather belts studded with jewels. They were originally launched to wear with lace evening gowns.

Europe Always in Fear

The European problem of armament, reduced to its simplest essential, is how to remove a deep-rooted sense of fear which the nations habitually feel towards each other; for this fear continues to produce the results that are feared.

The funeral of Montague Cole was held from his late home in Ulster Park Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was largely attended by relatives and many old friends. The Rev. Ralph H. Beaumont, of the Reformed Dutch Church, had charge of the service and the bearers were George H. Terpening, Willenah Terpening, L. M. Hermance, S. T. Van Aken, Holt N. Winfield and Leslie Herring, all lifetime friends of the deceased. Mr. Cole was the son of the late Alonzo Cole and his wife, Mary Winfield Cole, both representatives of two old families of the town of Esopus. Interment was in the family plot in Port Ewen Cemetery.

Captain Tom Douglas, who ran the barge Live Oak Jim between the Battery and Edgewater, N. J., and was a familiar figure for years in the city's barge colony, died yesterday morning in the cabin of his boat at Pier 1, East River. He was 70 years old. An ambulance surgeon from Broad Street Hospital, summoned by the Captain's wife, Mrs. Mary Douglas, attributed his death to heart disease. Captain Douglas was born in Kingston, N. Y., and passed most of his life on barges and river craft. His latest barge is owned by the United States Barge Corporation, 17 Battery Place, and transports coal between here and Edgewater.

William Legg, formerly of Sleightsburg, died Sunday night in Kings County Hospital, New York, after a protracted illness. His home was at Ebony Court, Long Island, and for 35 years he had been employed by the New York Telephone Company, part of the time as superintendent. Fraternally he was a Mason and a member of the Royal Arcanum of Brooklyn. Surviving him are one son, William, Jr., and one daughter, Helen, at home; one brother, James Legg of Kingston, who is an employe of The Freeman; two sisters, Mrs. Herbert C. Van Aken of Smith avenue, Kingston, and Mrs. Alfred Schumaker of Hoboken, N. J. He was a brother of the late Harry Legg, who was chief electrician of the Kingston Fire Department. Mr. Legg's age was 66. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Augusta DeSilva, wife of Ariste DeSilva of Pine Hill, died early Sunday morning at her home after a very brief illness. For some time Mrs. DeSilva had been suffering from asthma but her condition was not considered critical and she continued to teach school at Pine Hill during last week. Friday night she was seized with a very severe attack and died Sunday morning. Before going to Pine Hill, where both Mr. and Mrs. DeSilva taught school, they resided at Mt. Tremper and taught school in that village. During the summer vacation period they still resided at their home in Mt. Tremper. Through her bright, cheerful disposition Mrs. DeSilva won many friends during her residence at Mt. Tremper and at Pine Hill who were shocked to learn of her sudden death. Funeral services will be held from the late residence at Pine Hill Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

William F. Brush, former assemblyman from the First district of Orange county, and former racing supervisor, died at Montgomery Saturday. He was 65 years old. Mr. Brush, well known in Kingston, was born in Matteawan and for many years he was an auctioneer and appraiser of Orange county. He was secretary of the New York State Fair Association for many years and was starting judge at many county fairs, including the Ulster County Fair at Ellenville. He also served as starter for races in Pennsylvania and other states. In 1908 Governor Charles E. Hughes appointed him racing supervisor for the First district. He was a volunteer fireman, a member of the Newburgh City Club and the Newburgh Elks. Mr. Brush married Rose North of this city and for a time resided in this city. He was well known among horsemen of this section and was a personal friend of the late James S. Wilne and Barney Demarest, who were both interested in trotting horses.

INEXPLICABLE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I NEVER look upon a child
Upon its mother's breast,
So innocent, so undefiled,
That blessing, and the best,
I never look and can believe
The child can ever be
A man to make a woman grieve,
Or woman such as he.

I never look upon a man,
A man of greed or sin,
The features of a woman scan
And see the wrong within,
I never look and can believe
The guilty or defiled,
However either may deceive,
Has ever been a child.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Jan. 16—The rain and accompanying mellow southwest wind of Wednesday evening all but cleared the valley of Monday's five-inch snowfall. Unquestionably the job would have been complete had not old Dame Nature suddenly reversed the trend to colder weather.

So crispy was the temperature that on Friday morning the reservoir was skimmed over with ice from shore to shore.

Mrs. Virgil Gordan of Brodhead, who has been ill with grip for a week, is now able to be about again.

All regret to learn that Martin J. Every, Olive's well known assessor, is ill at his home due to high blood pressure, which noticeably developed following a fall from a load of wood which he was drawing one day earlier in the week. Mr. Every suffered a very similar illness one winter several years ago and was confined to the house for six weeks or more before his head finally cleared of its dizzy condition. No resident in the town is better known than Mr. Every, and the fact that he has friends is attested by the tremendous majority he received in the 1929 town election. That his present condition may be but of short duration and that soon he may be well on the road to recovery is the earnest wish of everyone.

On Friday evening a group of friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gessner of Olive Bridge. The pleasant occasion was given in honor of Mrs. Gessner's birthday.

Mrs. Joe Mooney of Kingston visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Every, at Traver Hollow on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brueckner of West Hurley spent Thursday with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jones, in West Shokan Heights.

Mitchell Avery of West Shokan Heights is cutting firewood for his uncle, Freeman Avery, of Watson Hollow, now enjoying a mid-winter's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Weidner of Hickory Hill were business callers in Kingston on Friday.

Present indications are that an ice harvest may be in the making.

Bill Godman and Joe Winkler as casual observers are accompanying Judge Lester A. Davis on his rounds checking up on Olive's canine population.

Collector Earle North with son, Justus, and his assistants, Supervisors Chester Lyons sat for tax collection on Thursday, January 12, in Winchell's Hall, Shokan. The next sitting will be at Colange's Hall, West Shokan, on Thursday, January 19.

Harold Constable assisted Eddie Winkler and his grandfather in a three-handed wood cutting and hauling bee on Friday.

Ernie Constable, High Point Mountain philosopher, has abundant evidence to show for his labors during that pre-winter mid December spell when the cold was so intense that he had to build a roaring bonfire to keep the woods where he was working from freezing up. An immense heap of fall wood now adorns the near vicinity of his woodshed, awaiting the gasoline saw and a ready hand from his neighbors. The hauling was done by Ernest Palen of Brodhead with his team, assisted by Harold Constable. The meanwhile, Ernie smoking his soothing pipe, who at the time was a bit sore and stiff from his labors, watched in a spirit of satisfied contentment from the warm kitchen fireside.

Another indication that spring is sure to follow the winter is the early arrival of seed catalogues with their tempting array of vegetables and flowers in natural colors, followed by glowing word pictures that make the mouth water in the aggravating appeal to the winter-bound gardener.

Local Sunday school services will be held as usual in the Baptist Church Sunday afternoon 1 o'clock. Twenty-two were present last Sunday and with the "bring a new member" slogan in force a still larger congregation is expected this Sunday. Everyone regardless of creed, race or color is most cordially welcomed at the services.

Lieutenants Daniel Faber and James Montgomery of the Sidney barracks motored through West Shokan while inspecting patrols on Wednesday.

Mrs. Lottie Campbell has recovered from her severe attack of the flu sufficiently to get away from the house for the first on Thursday and walk to the Main street grocery of Judge Lester S. Davis.

A full representation of the Olive members attended the big meeting of Clinton Chapter, O. E. S., in Kingston on Friday evening.

All indications point to a full attendance Saturday evening at the I. O. O. F. installation and reception to 50 year members in Olive Bridge. The luncheon following will be served by members of the Olive Rebekahs.

ZENA COUNTRY CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1933

Zena, Jan. 16—The Zena Country Club, Inc., held its regular business as well as annual election of officers at the club house on Thursday evening, January 12, Howard Harcourt, president of the club, presiding.

Following the reports of various officers, Mr. Harcourt took the floor and in a short speech thanked the club for the splendid cooperation of the past year and made a few remarks upon the progress of the club, the improvements made, the many good times enjoyed by the members and that the club owed no money but ended the year with a balance in the bank.

There was one committee that he especially wished to mention, the Decorating Committee. The Misses Julia Klementis and Alice Holumzer did splendid work in decorating the clubhouse at different occasions and on behalf of himself and the club he presented them a little token of appreciation. Each lady was presented with a lavalliere amid great applause. Each lady responded with a little speech of thanks.

The following officers were then elected: President, Howard Harcourt, re-elected; vice president, Fred Thaisz, re-elected; recording secretary, Olga Lynch, re-elected; treasurer, Dan Lynch; financial secretary, Alice Holumzer; board of governors for three years, Roy Welven and William Klementis, re-elected; board of governors for two years to fill term of William Klementis, who died January 2, Ernest Baldinger; sergeant at arms, William Klementis; matron, Mother Krause, re-elected; stewards, Mr. and Mrs. Aurel Holumzer, re-elected; decorating committee, the Misses Julia Klementis and Alice Holumzer, re-appointed by the chair; hoping committee, cards, refreshments, Lela Harcourt, re-appointed by the chair.

Social hour and refreshments were enjoyed by the members after the meeting.

Woodstock Supper Off.

The chicken supper scheduled to be held in the Woodstock Methodist Church Tuesday, January 17, has been postponed on account of so much illness, and instead there will be a cafeteria supper and social hour.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Sir Malcolm Campbell, the wiry little British racing driver, is coming back to roar up and down Daytona Beach again, his telescope sights trained on a little row of flags marking the edge of the beach and his foot-accelerator level with the floor or "full ball," as he describes it himself.

It still gives me something of a chill to recall the utter disgust with which Sir Malcolm stepped from his Blue Bird at Daytona last February, lit a cigarette and commented on a blanket-blank machine that could do no better than 245 miles an hour.

Or if it wasn't his machine, there must be something wrong with Odis Porter's timing apparatus in the tower marking the halfway of the beach speedway. It was all very distressing, anyway, and Sir Malcolm viewed with some chagrin the idea that people would consider his run a "failure" because he had failed to boost his two-day-old speed record of 253.968 miles per hour!

Campbell doesn't give the hazards of his professional pursuit much thought, mainly on the ground that, he shrugs, it doesn't make much difference whether you are traveling at 150 or 300 miles per hour, if something goes wrong.

"You just won't recall it, that's all," he remarks with the air of one dismissing the subject altogether.

The King's Horses

Campbell is coming back now with a remodeled and re-powered machine which, says his American manager, Bill Sturm, will not resemble the famous old Blue Bird very much at all.

It will, for example, have a new power plant consisting of a 12-cylinder Rolls Royce, airplane-type engine, developing 2500 horse-power, in place of the former Napier-Lion motor which developed only 1500 h. p.

The huge immovable fin will be there, however, to act as a stabilizers and the car will again be conventional in its general make-up, including four-wheel brakes, rear-wheel drives, three speeds forward and one reverse. It will weigh around four tons.

80 M. P. H. in "Low"

To the ordinary motorist, it will be of some interest to realize that Campbell begins cruising at about the spot where the average high-powered stock car leaves off.

Blue Bird's top speed in low gear is about 80 miles an hour and it can reach 165 m. p. h. in second gear. Neither Campbell nor Sturm makes any prediction as to what it will do in "high" but Sir Malcolm will no doubt be thoroughly annoyed if he doesn't do closer to 300 m. p. h. than 250.

No Depression In Basketball

By L. W. ST. JOHN

Chairman of the N. C. A. A. joint basketball rules committee and athletic director of Ohio State University.

(Written for The Associated Press)

Columbus, O., Jan. 16 (AP).—Basketball in 1933 continues as a healthy and profitable sport. Changing financial conditions have been met by a widespread reduction in admission prices, resulting — along with other influences—in increased attendance.

Basketball, in most colleges, is the only sport besides football that pays its own way. In secondary schools, the game does even better and in many cases it goes a long way toward supporting the athletic program. In a great many states, strong state high school athletic associations are almost exclusively supported by the income from basketball tournaments. This condition will continue nationally as long as the game holds the present measure of spectator and player interest.

More Speed to Game

A leading factor in the extensive interest shown in the game this year is found in the new rules. An increase in "stalling" tactics and, more prevalent than this, a great increase in deliberate and delay offensive, was operating prior to this year to lessen interest in the game.

It was asked of the new rules that they speed up offensive play and, if possible reduce stalling. This the new rules have done. Contrary to fears expressed by many persons, there has been no increase in whistle blowing: In fact, the tendency has been toward less interference on the part of officials. In five major games witnessed to date, I have seen no violation of either the ten-second or the three-second rules. There is distinctly more offensive play than heretofore and, consequently, a marked tendency towards higher scores.

Ideal Indoor Game

I believe that basketball is the ideal indoor sport for schools and colleges. It is a fast game, filled with action. Spectators are comfortably accommodated and are close to the field of action and the constant change from offense to defense makes it most fascinating.

Discontinuance of the practice of broadcasting games is believed to contribute somewhat to the increased attendance. I am convinced that a survey of the United States will show larger attendance and increased interest at this time, when practically all other sports are showing a decline in attendance, if not in interest.

HOWS AND WHYS

How much mileage is there in you—sixty years or eighty?

How to pass the time agreeably waiting for a street car? Is it possible?

How fast a new friendship grows—one or the other will say something complimentary.

Why should we ever have fought the Indians when we could have bought them off?

What does a woman marry for? Well, what is it she sues for if the man doesn't marry her?

Wild life is disappearing in America. Due, perhaps, to destruction of the long green in which it nests.

Who would have believed that the mere use of words for periods could make telegrams sound so feminine.

Why does a doctor always want to put you in bed for a cold? Because those who don't go to bed make the pneumonia cases.

THE BEST FRIEND

There are many views which do not deprive us of friends, there are many virtues which prevent our having any.

In love we grow acquainted because we are already attached. In friendship we must know each other before we love.

He who cannot feel friendship is alike incapable of love. Let a woman beware of the man who owns that he loves no one but herself.—Talleyrand.

A good man is the best friend, and, therefore, to be chosen long to be retained, and indeed never to be parted with, unless he ceases to be that for which he was chosen.—Jeremy Taylor.

YOUTH

We shall never be younger.

Youth comes but once in a lifetime.

Old men for counsel, young men for war.

Youth is gay and holds no society with grief.

It is hard to put old heads on young shoulders.

No one so old that he may not live a year, none so young but he may die today.

In the lexicon of youth which Fate reserves for a bright manhood there is no such a word as fail.

Victory Five Wins.

The Victory Five defeated the Comforter Aces 21-19 Saturday in Comforter Hall in a basketball game that featured I. Van Kleeck of the Aces and Cook of the Victory five as the leading scorers. Each had 13 points.

Hebrew-Americans Win at Hunter

The Hebrew-Americans won a hard fought battle from the Y. M. H. A. at Hunter, Saturday night, outscoring the mountaineers in the last minute of play. Final tally of the contest was 25-21.

As Timekeeper Meisel's watch ticked off the seconds in the closing minute, the score stood in favor of the Hunter brigade, 21-20. Levine, Coach Irv Reuben's flashy right forward, tied the standing with a foul shot, and then sunk a field which was followed by another caged by O. Basch to put the Kingstonians in the van by four as the game ended.

The victory was the Hebrew-Americans' 10th straight. Tonight at the Downtown Jewish Community Center they will try to make it 11 by defeating the Zodiacs of Ellenville.

Preliminary to the feature the Hebrew-American Girls meet the Girls' Friendly Society of Holy Cross Church.

At The Theatres

Today.

Kingston: "Lawyer Man." William Powell is at his sophisticated best in the role of a big city lawyer who learns the art of money getting. Supporting him in the other major parts are Joan Blondell, Helen Vinson, Claire Dodd and Sheila Terry. One of the most enjoyable pictures in Mr. Powell's long list of successes is this story of law and lawyers.

Orpheum: "The Hatchet Man" and "Those We Love." Edward G. Robinson plays the part of a tongman in this picture, who has to kill his best friend for the honor and vengeance of the tong. Loretta Young is also in the cast. "Those We Love" features Mary Astor, Kenneth MacKenna, and Lilyan Tashman.

Broadway: "Laughter in Hell." Another expose of the Chain Gang system in some of our states, this time from the pen of Jim Tully. The picture is sordid from start to finish, filled with bitterness, cruelty and death. The cast offers Pat O'Brien, Myrna Kennedy, Gloria Stuart, Tom Brown and Berton Churchill. This can't be recommended as enjoyable entertainment, but it is effective in its brutal expose of alleged chain gang atrocities.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: "Son Daughter." A story laid in China, filled with Oriental intrigue and romance. Helen Hayes plays the part of the daughter of a man who wanted a son. She is in love with a Chinese boy, played by Ramon Navarro, but she marries another man to help her father who needs money. Lewis Stone and Warner Oland are also in the cast.

Orpheum: Same.

Broadway: "The Mummy." Boris Karloff contributes another horror characterization to his already long list, this time as an Egyptian mummy buried alive over 3,700 years ago, who is brought back to life, and who wanders about in the world of today, a study of gruesomeness. Mr. Karloff's makeup for this unusual part is quite marvelous, but the plot is impossible and unbelieveable from start to finish. Good for an evening of thrills.

Never Missed Sunday For 21 Years Here

Here is a mark for some one to shoot at. Alfred Finley of German streeet, the first of the year completed a record of never missing a session of the Sunday school of the Rondout Presbyterian Church in 21 years. It is likely that his record is even for a longer period, but the record books previous to 21 years ago are missing and can not be checked up. Mr. Finley has started the new year by not missing a Sunday. As far as known Mr. Finley holds the record not only for Kingston but Ulster county for attendance at Sunday school.

Defer Action on Farm Relief Bill

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP).—At the request of Senator Smith (D. S. C.), the senate agriculture committee today agreed to defer action on the domestic allotment farm relief bill until he has conferred with President-elect Roosevelt. This Smith planned to do immediately.

After a brief discussion, the committee recessed until tomorrow morning.

Senator Smith, who has indicated doubts of the practicability of the plan, obtained assurance that nothing would be done at once; and thereupon arranged to leave for New York to see the next president.

Plans to expedite temporary measure to relieve the farm mortgage situation were formulated today by Chairman Steagall of the House Banking Committee.

SMITH TO AID AUTHOR OF "SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK"

New York, Jan. 16 (AP).—Alfred E. Smith, who toured the nation in the 1928 presidential campaign to the tune of "The Sidewalks of New York" today figuratively passed around his brown derby to aid the man who wrote the song.

As soon as word reached the former Governor that James W. Blake, the author, now 70 years old and destitute, was homeless on the sidewalks his lilting song helped immortalize, he got busy.

"That's one case that will be attended to—and at once" Smith said.

He called the unemployment bureau and officials there promised to set about finding a job and shelter for the aged man.

Blake wrote the song which begins "East side, west side—all around the town" many years ago and the late Charles B. Lawler provided the melody. It was introduced from a bowery stage and immediately swept the land.

The author had been employed as a salesman with the same firm for 12 years but lost his position last year. Since then he has been looking for something to do. His savings were consumed in supporting a sister and a blind brother and he had to give up his Bronx home several months ago.

He moved into a dollar a day hotel and continued his search for work, but yesterday his last penny was gone and he had to go back to his "Sidewalks."

MARLBOROUGH'S POPULATION REPORTED UNCHANGED

Milton, Jon. 16.—According to records of the town clerk, the population of the town of Marlborough was unchanged during the past year. Thirty-eight births and the same number of deaths were recorded in the town during 1932. While town records show 38 births, local babies born in Poughkeepsie, Kingston and Newburgh hospitals are not recorded in the town of Marlborough, although they add to its population.

BEER BILL AGAIN MEETS A DELAY

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—A week's delay for the Collier-Blaine bill to legalize 3.05 beer and wine was forced today when the Senate judiciary committee failed to reach an agreement on the measure.

O. Henry Wrote Stories While He Was in Prison

O. Henry, whose real name was William Sidney Porter, was born in 1862 in Greensboro, N. C. He was a sundown boy who became a pharmacist, worked in a home town drug store, and then, still a youth, went to Texas where he worked as druggist, cowboy and sheep herder before he began his journalistic career on the Houston Post. Later he bought out Brand's Iconoclast, at Austin, Texas, for $250. Brand soon wanted the name back again, and Porter surrendered it, naming his paper "The Rolling Stone." It was a humorous publication which did not long survive.

O. Henry was employed for a time by the First National bank of Austin. He was accused of embezzling funds of this bank and was indicted by a federal jury. He fled to Central America, where he was safe from extradition and where he lived for a time. Later he surrendered and was sentenced and served a term in the Ohio state penitentiary at Columbus, federal prisoners being received at that institution at that time. Porter had written magazine stories before his penitentiary term, some of them under the name of O. Henry, and he continued writing while he was a prisoner.

Not long after his release he made New York his home, and there the brightest part of his career was lived. He died in New York June 5, 1910.

Suffering

It has been said that the average humanitarian is so interested in the woes of all the world that he often overlooks the suffering individuals upon it. He is so ambitious to be generally useful that he has no time to be specific; so occupied with the masses and the classes that the brother next door is forgotten. There is more than enough charitable impulse running around loose—that is the trouble with it; it ought to be harnessed. Do not mistake sentiment for pity; the only time you are really doing good is when you are doing something that actually helps.—Montreal Herald.

Cause of World War

On June 28, 1914, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, was visiting Serajevo, a town in Bosnia, when he was shot and killed by a student named Prinzep. The Austria-Hungarian government fixed the blame after a month of investigation, on Serbian intrigues, and demanded of Serbia certain services which the Serbs regarded as invading their sovereignty. This dispute drew in other nations, and the war followed.

Twelfth Century Sculptors

Among the scores of old temples and mosques in Bhuvaneswar, India, the Megheswara is a fine specimen of Twelfth century workmanship. The decorators held zoological devices in such high esteem that they introduce animals into the scroll work. Rhinoceros, stag and monkey are among the embellishments, while the peacock of Kartikeya, the war god, tops the bill as star turn.

Kinds of Beets

The four distinct kinds of beets are the common garden beet, the sugar beet, the mangel wurzel, and the foliage beets. The garden beet is variety "crasa," the foliage beets are forms of variety "cicla," and some of the common names are leaf beet, Sicilian beet, sea kale beet, spinach beet, Chilean beet, Roman kale.

Rhode Island's Name

The official name of the state of Rhode Island is Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, and signifies the union in 1644 of several settlements under this name. One of the settlements was on Rhode Island, an actual island in Narragansett bay.

Long's Fifth Day of Senate Filibuster

Washington, Jan. 16. (AP).—Refusing to yield the floor for a previously announced speech on prohibition and preventing an agreement to vote tomorrow on the Philippine veto, Senator Long (D., La.), today began the fifth day of the senate filibuster against the Glass banking bill.

The Louisianan, having the floor by prior right when the senate reconvened, declined at once to give it up to Senator Sheppard (D., Tex.), for his customary annual address on prohibition—this time to commemorate the thirteenth anniversary of the 18th amendment.

"If the senator will withhold that speech until the end of the week," Long said, "he can deliver his remarks over the death of prohibition."

"Of course I cannot agree to that," Sheppard returned with a smile.

What the Dam Meant

By GREGORY GRAY

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

IN ONE of the tarred paper shacks which housed the gangs and engineers of the Nesbit Construction company a man bent over a pile of blueprints. A spectator would have thought him too absorbed to be aware of the beating rain on the unsubstantial roof.

As a matter of fact, Paul Bassett was so dominated by the rain that everything else was driven from his mind. It even made him forget the party on the hill whose foregoing he believed had cost him the heart and hand of its hostess, Claire Hendricks.

This downpour, unprecedented at this season of the year, was threatening his uncompleted dam and with it the labor of four hard years. The weather bureau had prophesied another twelve hours of it.

"Of course," he had told Claire over the phone, "my common sense tells me the dam will stand. Even unfinished, the factor of safety is ridiculously high."

"Then I should think," said Claire petulantly, "that you could surely come to the party."

"I am afraid not," he said ruefully. "If anything should happen—well, it's like the captain and his ship. 'Duty before pleasure.'"

"Imagined duty!" came back Claire's taunt. "Thank heaven, Abbott Wayne's bonding business is not so demanding!"

With that unkind last word the conversation ended. Wayne was the man Paul had for some time been fearing was a rival.

At midnight there came a sudden lull in both gale and rain and it occurred to Paul that it would be a favorable moment to take a reading of certain gauges down at the dam itself which, imbedded in the structure, registered their recordings over wires to special instruments at the surface.

Picking his way by flashlight along the narrow path that skirted the great piles of debris, now being washed and gullied into fascinating patterns, he reached the dam and made his readings.

For a moment he stood watching the turbulent race of clouds over his head. Then, as he turned to go, a glimpse of something moving in the shadow of a derrick caught his eye.

A girl, wrapped in a cape, her hair wind blown, was standing there. For a minute his heart leaped. Had Claire run down for a moment?

Then he saw it was not Claire, but Abbott Wayne's little sister, who had made the dam project her own ever since the first shovel of dirt had been turned.

"What on earth, Dot," he demanded, "are you doing here?"

The girl shrugged her shoulders. "I love the racket of the storm. Besides, haven't I seen this dam grow from the very start? I couldn't help worrying about it. Wanted to see if it was all right."

For the first time in the four years that she had the run of the place, Paul really saw Dorothy. And she wasn't the mere child that he thought. "Why aren't you at the party?" he said.

"Two reasons," she retorted promptly. "Unimportant one being that I'd rather be here. The other—well, I wasn't asked. I may be eighteen, almost, but Claire thinks me a kid."

Eighteen! Paul would hardly have thought so, but now he saw that it was rather because of her slim little figure and girlish ways than from any childishness. It flashed across him that she would make an excellent wife for an engineer. She would understand, as Claire never could, that intimate bond between a man and the thing he has created.

She startled him with a little cry. "Look, oh look! I do believe the old weather bureau was wrong! There's the moon!"

Sure enough, through a rift in the clouds, the whole disk of the moon, just past full, could be seen.

It was true that the crest of the flood might not be reached until noon tomorrow, but the chances were that the dam would hold if the rain was over. Paul felt like seizing the slender hands of his companion and whirling her round in a dance of celebration. Yesterday he would have done that very thing. But somehow, not tonight.

"I must go back," she was saying. "I—I wonder if you would mind walking up to the top of the hill with me where I can see the light in my window. It's really later than I thought, I suppose—" and she threw a glance up at the big house on the hill where strains of music were floating down—"everyone knows now of Claire's engagement to my brother."

Paul stopped short. "Claire—your brother?"

"Why, yes. That was what the party was for. Abbott told me before he left. But it was to be a grand surprise. Claire loves surprises."

By rights, Paul should have felt as if a knife had been turned in his heart. On the contrary, he felt and he was amazed at the sensation, as if he had just received a reprieve from some dreadful fate.

The rain had ceased. The girl who could never understand what the dam meant to him was going to belong to somebody else, and he had discovered a lovely, awakening woman in the girl who had watched him build it.
